Allies to Ignore Gunfire Threat In Air Corridor

Airlift Will Continue to Fly Lanes Despite Soviet Shooting

BERLIN, May 27 (AP).—The Russians today suggested narrowing one of the three airlift lanes to Berlin as a safety measure, saying Soviet military manoeuvres will start immediately and they will not be responsible for Allied planes entering the "danger areas."

British and United States authorities replied that their planes will continue to fly the corridors—20-mile-wide links between West Berlin and West Germany—without deviation.

RAILWAYS PARALYZED

The notification was given the Western Allies as total paralysis gripped the railway from Helmstedt in this seventh day of a strike by anti-Communist West Berlin rail workers.

Berlin's supply situation appeared as critical as it was at the height of the recently-lifted Russian blockade.

The airlift, manned by Britons and Americans, again has become the main source of supply to West Berlin. It is steadily ferrying in about 8,000 tons of food and other things daily.

C. P. Zorchenko, chief Russian air controller at the Berlin air safety centre, advised the Allies to shift their airlift route in the Buckeberg corridor from the British zone and detour planes along the northern edge. He said there would be air to ground firing "from May 28 onwards" at heights up to 30,000 feet.

Willy Kreckmeyer, president of the Russian-controlled Reichbahn (railway system), made a new peace offer to rail strikers—60 per cent West-mark wages—in a Radio Berlin broadcast tonight. Strike leaders called the offer worthless.

Ernst Reuter, West Berlin's lord mayor, demanded that the Reichbahn capitulate to the 12,000 strikers' demands for:

Full wages in West marks. They have been paid in less valuable East marks.

Recognition of the anti-Communist U.G.O. (independent labor organization) as their legal bargaining agent.

Arena Repair Plans Altered by Council

Tests to Be Carried Out On Proposal of Engineer

The city's arena committee has changed its mind about the method of fastening Memorial Arena's fibrerock ceiling sheets.

City Council at a special meeting yesterday accepted a new committee report which rescinded the previous report of May 19.

In the earlier report, the committe accepted the suggestion of a Seattle engineering firm that ceiling sheets be secured by bolts fired by a gun through fibrerock into the concrete barrel roof.

Yesterday's recommendation provides "that the sheets be fastened by drilling holes in the concrete and driving lead-encased screws — or other suitable method—using plate washers, and that the chairman be authorized to make tests."

MADE BY MR. HAMILTON

This method of fastening the sheets was recommended by Charles T. Hamilton, arena consulting engineer, at a three-hour meeting with the arena committee behind closed doors Wednesday.

It represents a compromise between the earlier view of the committee and that of Mr. Hamilton, who declared himself "unalterably opposed" to the use of gun-fired bolts. Such bolts, he contended, would blow holes in the concrete.

Mr. Hamilton previously wanted to fix the sheets in place with hot asphalt.

"We will try out different methods of fastening, and come back with a final report," Ald. Edward Williams, arena committee chairman, told yesterday's council meeting. He said tests will be made on some part of the arena concrete other than the ceiling.

WANTS WRITTEN CONSENT

Ald. John Baxter suggested that Mr. Hamilton's consent in writing should be obtained for any plan adopted.

Mr. Williams hinted that the gun-fired bolt plan had not necessarily been abandoned. He said there were guns of varying strength.

"I am unalterably opposed to those sheets being fastened by the gun, whether it is one-third the power or one-quarter the power," said Ald. Waldo Skillings.

He warned that if the city took a course to which Mr. Hamilton was opposed, the engineer could legally "walk off the job and still collect every cent."

"Whatever method is adopted should be on the recommendation and with the consent of the consulting engineer," said Ald. Aubrey Kent.

"I thought I made it clear that anything done would be done by this council and the consulting engineer," Ald. Williams said. "I will not agree to adopting any one method of fixing the ceiling before tests are made."

TESTS NEARLY FINISHED

Meanwhile, testing of refrigeration pipes installed by the Canadian Ice Co. is nearly completed. Work under the arena roof was resumed after loose ceiling sheets were torn down, removing hazard.

Ald Williams expressed hope that the floor would be ready for Luney Bros. and Hamilton to begin laying the concrete floor by the beginning of next week.

Repairs and safety fastening of the ceiling cannot be completed until the cement floor is laid.

Transit Points Settled

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP).—A delegation of the Street Railwaymen's Union came out of a three-hour conference with B.C. Electric Company president A. E. Grauer today with the news that settlement has been reached in "some minor points" of the company-union dispute.

A fourth round-table talk in an attempt to avert a transit tie-up in British Columbia's three major cities was scheduled for tomorrow.

Following the conference, Lloyd Easler, heading the five-man S.R.U. delegation, said:

"We have settled some minor points, concerning the company's counter proposals, but the major issues are still to be decided."

Mr. Grauer made no comment.

Three thousand transit workers in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster have voted to strike, demanding an immediate 40-hour week and pay boosts. The present work week is 46 hours.

Lane System For Traffic To Be Tried

A new multi-lane traffic system will be tried out at the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets if a recommendation passed by city public works committee yesterday is accepted by City Council.

The plan, put forward by Sgt. Brooke Douglas of city police traffic department, provides for four lanes southbound on Douglas Street, three lanes northbound and two lanes both ways on Fort Street.

On Douglas, southbound cars traveling the inner lane, nearest the sidewalk, will turn right to Fort. Cars on the outer lane will turn left. Cars on the two middle lanes will drive straight across the intersection and up Douglas.

The same order will be observed for northbound cars, except that there will be three lanes instead of four and no left turn.

There will be two lanes on Fort Street. Cars on the right-hand lane, whichever direction they are traveling, will turn right. Cars in the left-hand lane will go straight ahead.

The plan is aimed to relieve congestion at one of the city's busiest crossings. If successful, it would be adopted at other intersections. Lanes would be marked by painted lines. There would also be special pedestrian lanes.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The committee recommended enlarging school zone warning signs to make them more plainly visible. School zone closing lines on the road will be painted in one color instead of two, for greater visibility and economy, according to another recommendation.

Fear Seventeen Caught in Lava

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 27 (Reuters).—Seventeen students tonight were feared buried in burning lava below the 15,420-foot Puraco volcano, 25 miles east of Popayan, in the southwestern corner of Colombia.

Nine unidentified bodies have been found, newspaper reports reaching here from Popayan said. Two of the party of 19 were found alive, though injured, in a cave which had protected them from the burning lava.

LONG INACTIVE

The students, aged from 15 to 19, had set out on their expedition Thursday without fear since the volcano had been inactive for the last 16 years.

Troops, carrying out an intensive search of the slopes of the volcano, found the two survivors but an all-night search failed to reveal any traces of the missing 17.

Troops still were searching tonight amidst the molten lava and great rocks thrown up by the eruption.

First Returns Show Liberals With One Seat

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., May 28 (Saturday) (AP).—First returns gave the Liberal Party a one-man lead early today in Newfoundland's first provincial election, but the counting system made impossible an over-all picture.

J. R. Chalker, Liberal candidate for the nearby district of Harbor Grace, swept to victory over his Progressive Conservative opponent, R. A. Parsons. Three hours after Mr. Chalker's election was reported none of the other 23 districts had been heard from.

ATTEMPT FOILED

A last-minute attempt by Liberal Leader Joseph R. Smallwood to keep the count going all night was foiled by the fact that most telephone and telegraph circuits close before midnight.

An example of the slow-moving process was provided in the district of Ferryland, where only two ballot boxes out of 35 had been collected five hours after polls closed.

Returning officers in the dual district of St. John's East decided to count all night, but no similar decisions were reported from other ridings.

The count in all other ridings was scheduled to resume at 9 a.m. or as soon as all ballot boxes have been collected.

Returns were slow coming in even in the capital, because parts of the riding are in out-of-the-way places, accessible only by boat.

Labrador is still in the grip of Winter and this riding will not elect its member to the first provincial House until July 25.

White Found Not Guilty In Traffic Crash Death

Harry E. White, 2377 Central Avenue, was found not guilty yesterday of killing four-year-old James William Lazaruk in a February 28 traffic accident.

An Assize Court jury deliberated slightly less than two hours over the verdict while tension mounted among courtroom officials, counsel, witnesses and spectators.

Loud signs of relief and scattered applause greeted the verdict when it was announced. As Mr. White walked from the courtroom crowds of smiling eye-witnesses and friends clustered around to congratulate him.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

White was charged after a traffic accident at the intersection of Oak Bay and Richmond Avenues which began when his car was in collision with one driven by H. O. English, 2832 Dewdney Avenue.

The collision sent White's car spinning upside down to crush the Lazaruk youngster to death against a telephone pole.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Wendell B. Farris charged the jury yesterday that if they did not find White not guilty, they had the alternative of finding him guilty of either manslaughter or reckless driving.

H. W. Davey, K.C., calling for a complete acquittal, told the jury there was an "entire lack of evidence that any of White's conduct constituted the degree of negligence that would enable the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty on either charge."

Joseph McKenna, Crown prosecutor, called for a conviction, claiming that White caused the death by speeding and by failing to keep a proper lookout.

He urged the jury not to be "moved by sympathy either for the accused or for the parents of the deceased boy."

Oak Bay Proposes Terms For Joining Water Board

Oak Bay may be ready at last to slide into the Greater Victoria water board fold.

The only Greater Victoria municipality to remain aloof has written to the board proposing terms of entry. The board's reply, made public yesterday, indicated a strong possibility of agreement.

THREE CLAUSES

Oak Bay's letter to the board contained three clauses as conditions of entry.

1. The act setting up the water board should be amended at the expiration of five years to provide for one representative on the board for each outlying municipality, against three for the city. The act at present provides that the city is to have one more representative than the other three municipalities together.

2. Along lines suggested by the Stewart report, Japan Gulch reservoir should be connected with Humpback reservoir, extending a new supply line from Humpback to Thetis Lake Road; a new supply line should be laid from Thetis Hill Road to Smith's Hill reservoir and a new 30-inch main laid from there to the intersection of Lansdowne Road and Foul Bay Road. The two projects should be carried out concurrently, if possible.

3. Another clause in the amendment to the act would provide that there be no expropriation of the distributing plant of any municipality without consent of the municipal council.

The new projects would be financed by the funds of Greater Victoria Water District, and Oak Bay would pay no trans-urban charges once Leighton Road supply was no longer necessary, Oak Bay's proposal said.

Oak Bay declared itself ready "to have the present rate of charging for water supplied fixed by the Public Utilities Commission, with confidence that a rate considerably less than 9.1 (cents per thousand gallons), which is proposed by the city, will be fixed."

"This, therefore, puts us in some position to bargain for terms of entry into the water district," the letter asserted.

The board's reply, signed by Ralph Davis, chief commissioner, conceded Oak Bay's first point with a reservation; conceded the second, and promised investigation of the third.

The board said it now favors equalization of representation, but cannot bind the board that will exist in five years' time. It expressed agreement with the plans for new supply lines and mains.

On the third point, the board promised that an amendment to the act "will be discussed by the solicitors of the municipalities . . . to clarify the board's intentions regarding expropriation of the distribution plant of member municipalities."

Reeve R. A. B. Wootton of Oak Bay said last night that he expected "an early decision" from his council on Oak Bay's entry. It will be considered at a council meeting on Wednesday.

Modifying the stand taken in the council's letter, he hinted that an agreement might be reached on rates rather than taking the matter to the Public Utilities Commission.

BULLETINS

Find Body

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP).—A tip from a passenger on the Victoria-bound Princess Marguerite led tonight to the discovery of the body of seven-year-old Brian McBurney, missing for 13 days after a trip to Spanish Banks.

Kept Under Watch

BUCHAREST, May 27 (Reuters).—Dr. George Tatarescu, Romanian foreign minister from 1945 to 1947, tonight was under surveillance in his house in Bucharest and was not allowed to leave it. Earlier unconfirmed reports said he was under arrest.

U.K. Aviatrix Again Delayed

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP).—Mrs. Richard Morrow-Tait, 25, of Cambridge, England, may set a tough-luck record for women round-the-world flyers.

Today, the Civil Aeronautics Administration grounded her plane, "Next Thursday's Child." The C.A.A. held she had registered it improperly, representing herself as a United States citizen owner. Also, the C.A.A. said, her extra fuel tank is unsafe. It's the second plane she's used on the flight. The first was damaged in a crash landing in Alaska.

Mrs. Morrow-Tait she she expects everything will be straightened out in time for her to proceed to Buffalo, N.Y., next Wednesday.

Eugene Blaze Razes Block

EUGENE, Ore., May 27 (AP).—A roaring fire that spiraled flames hundreds of feet into the air destroyed an entire block in Eugene's industrial district today at a loss of more than a quarter million dollars.

The entire $250,000 wholesale and retail yard of the Long Bell Lumber Company burned. The Southern Pacific Railroad feared damage to adjoining electrical lines and installations might reach several thousand dollars.

The blaze—one of the worst in Eugene's history—called out the entire fire department for five hours, and threatened to spread to valuable lumber plants nearby.

Cycle Mishap Fatal to One

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP).—A motorcyclist is dead, his young daughter is in serious condition, and a brother in only fair condition in North Vancouver Hospital following an accident in North Vancouver.

Two other persons also were injured.

Police said a motorcycle and sidecar, operated by Max Sasarath of Rice Lake, crashed into a lamp standard when it went out of control.

Sasarath was dead on arrival at North Vancouver Hospital.

His daughter was seriously injured. She was riding tandem when the accident occurred.

Riding in the sidecar with the brother were two other youths. Both are in fair condition in hospital.

Ratepayers Vote Today In Three Municipalities

Ratepayers of Victoria's three outside municipalities will vote today on by-laws concerning schools, roads and drainage.

In Saanich, taxpayers will vote at 14 polling stations on a $270,000 road construction by-law and a $31,000 by-law for additional construction costs of Topaz Avenue Junior High School and View Royal elementary school. Voting on the school loan is limited to persons owning property in School District 61.

POLLING STATIONS

Polling stations are: Ward One, Cedar Hill School or 3099 Richmond Road; Ward Two, Tolmie School or Cloverdale School; Ward Three, Gordon Head School or Cadboro Bay Scout Hall; Ward Four, Marigold Scout Hall or 3890 Douglas Street; Ward Five, Royal Oak School or McMorran's Pavilion; Ward Six, Brentwood Women's Institute (small) Hall or Keating Temperance Hall; Ward Seven, Tillicum School or St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Hall.

Oak Bay taxpayers will vote on a $28,000 by-law for school purposes and a $60,000 drainage by-law. Lone polling station is at the Municipal Hall.

ESQUIMALT VOTE

Esquimalt ratepayers will vote only on a $9,000 by-law for school purposes. Polling stations are the Municipal Hall and 855 Craigflower Road.

Voting is from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in all municipalities.

The City of Victoria voted Thursday on the school by-law. Results will be known tonight.

Ford Strike Nearing End

DETROIT, May 27 (AP).—The 23-day Ford strike was reported near settlement tonight.

The optimistic report came from Arthur C. Vlat, regional director of the Federal Mediation Service, as the company and the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) went into an unusual session at 9:30 p.m. E.D.T.

Vlat said the issue of arbitration—principal snag for days—had been cleared away.

This, he said, left only two remaining issues.

Asked if the negotiators were going to settle the strike tonight Vlat replied:

"We've got to settle it tonight."

U.A.W. President Walter P. Reuther, emerging from the conference room this afternoon, said "Things look better than at any time since the strike started."

John S. Bugas, Ford vice-president in charge of industrial relations, would only say there was "some progress."

Shanghai Nearly Normal As Red Entry Completed

SHANGHAI, May 27 (AP).—Traffic was snarled again today on Shanghai streets. Hawkers crowded the sidewalks. Money-changers invitingly clinked their silver dollars.

Asia's largest city thus was back to near normality as the fighting phase of the Communist take-over ended.

No planes roared off the international airport, however, and the only ships in the usually busy Whangpoo River were those scuttled by the departing Nationalists.

The police system seemed better already. The arrogant mob of Nationalist soldiers have been replaced by disciplined Communist troops who strictly minded their own business.

Banks, business offices and a few stores reopened. The shutters were taken off windows and barbed wire barricades were being rolled up.

Communications with Communist Peiping and Nanking were restored and those with Nationalist Canton and Formosa were cut.

Correspondents were permitted to file dispatches abroad, but only at straight commercial rates, rather than press rates. The explanation was that all press filing cards were cancelled and that new ones would have to be obtained from Peiping.

Most of the Nationalist forces appeared to have made good their escape.

Six-Room Saanich House Badly Damaged by Fire

A six-room house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Crickmay, 2558 Killarney Road, Saanich, was almost completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon.

Ten Saanich firemen, working under Chief Joseph Law and Deputy Chief Glenn Robbins, managed to save a portion of the structure. Remains of the house are still standing, firemen reported.

Officials said Mrs. Stewart and a neighbor attempted to extinguish the blaze before turning in the alarm. They phoned the fire department when they found they couldn't handle the blaze, firemen said, adding that precious moments were lost.

FURNITURE COVERED

Three lines were laid to the fire, and water damage was kept to a minimum when firemen placed large tarpaulins over furniture. When firemen arrived the entire house was ablaze.

It is believed the fire originated in a woodpile near the house. Cause has not been determined. It was a wooden frame house, owned by R. T. Waymark, who is visiting Calgary.

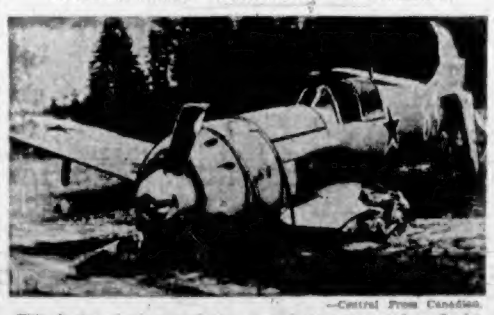
Russian Plane "Delivered" to Sweden



—Central Press Canadian.

This Soviet plane, type La-11, one of the most modern Soviet aircraft, crash-landed at the airfield of Tullinge in Sweden, south of Stockholm. The pilot, a Russian air lieutenant, aged 27, was practically uninjured. He had fled from Russia where his wife is in prison. He did not at first know in which country he had landed.

Tricks of Berlin Trade

—Central Press Canadian.

While other Berlin railway strikers battled strike-breakers and Communists, these union members quietly remove a rail section of one of the tracks into Berlin. As effective as winning a pitched battle with strike-breakers, tactics such as this have halted rail traffic into Berlin as effectively as the Russian blockade.

West to Call For Extension Of New State

PARIS, May 27 (AP).—The Four-power Foreign Ministers' conference came to a dead stall today, but Western members planned to steam it up with a new proposal.

The suggestion evidently would call for extension of the new Bonn constitution for Western Germany into the Russian zone. The constitution contains guarantees for a democratic government.

Informants said the Russians are sure not to like it. They added that the proposal promises to bring a quick answer to a hot question. Do the Russians intend to come to an agreement at this time, and if so, how far are they likely to go to meet Western demands?

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Foreign Minister, himself pleaded for the Western Powers to come forward with new ideas. He asked them to amend the proposal he had made.

This is the understanding the Western Powers have of the Russian plan:

It would provide for a German-state control authority to handle questions which the Big Four were willing to pass on to it. This German authority would be subordinate to a Four-power commission on which the right to veto would prevail.

How quickly the Western Powers will come forward with their plan is uncertain. Unofficial sources indicated it would be hammered into shape and presented tomorrow.

But there were other indications that the plan was not entirely ready.

Propose Changes In B.C. Liquor Act

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP). — The British Columbia Temperance League has prepared a ten-point proposal, amending the Liquor Act, for presentation to the Provincial Government.

Highlights of the program, endorsed by the annual meeting here, call for earlier closing hours, local option on all types of liquor outlets and a sterner enforcement of illegal drinking regulations against operators of premises.

The league also asked that tests to determine the alcoholic content of the blood of persons involved in traffic accidents be admitted in the courts.

British Magistrate Frees Fugitive Gerhart Eisler

LONDON, May 27 (CP).—Communist Gerhart Eisler was freed by a British court today to resume his interrupted flight from the United States to his native Germany. But the threat of further American action hung over him.

"We shall exert every effort to secure the return of the fugitive," said Attorney-General Tom Clark in [illegible] Magistrate's Court set Eisler at liberty.

Magistrate Sir Laurence Dunn said the perjury charge presented by the United States—an extraditable offence under the Anglo-American Extradition Treaty of 1870—could not be proved.

He rejected the demand that the mild-appearing little man whom a Congressional committee has called the No. 1 Communist agent in the United States be returned to face again the two prison sentences he jumped $23,500 bail May 6 to escape.

Clark did not say what the next United States move might be. He commented, however, that the court ruling, which involved a passport [illegible] based on the most narrow technical grounds."

But a State Department press officer, Rober Tubby, said in Washinto he understood from the department's legal experts there is no right to appeal open to the United States Government.

Eisler had no complaint about his treatment in jail.

"I have been treated most decently by the British people. It was worth while being in jail if only to discover how decent they are. Complete strangers sent me cigarettes and books," he said.

"I was very surprised by the decision of the magistrate in refusing an extradition warrant, perhaps because I am used to American methods. I should have had no chance in the United States."

Park Board School Closes This Autumn

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP). — The parks board-sponsored B.C. Institute of Music and Drama will close its doors at the end of the Summer.

The closure announcement was made by Ald. George Miller, head of the finance committee. It came after disclosure that a City Council investigation had termed the institute illegal under the [illegible]

The investigation followed charges made by 200 music and drama teachers that the parks board has no charter right to go into business.

Board Rules Pact Illegal In Coal Mines

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP). — The National Labor Relations Board ruled unanimously today that John L. Lewis' union shop agreement with the steel industry's coal mines is illegal.

Lewis has the same arrangement with the rest of the coal industry but today's case involved only the so-called "captive" mines, owned by 18 steel companies.

The board ordered Lewis to agree within ten days to stop giving effect to the union shop clause with the steel industry mines and to promise neither to call a strike nor threaten one to get the steel companies to agree to a similar union shop clause in new contract negotiations.

The union shop clause declared illegal specifies that all mine employes must be members of Lewis' United Mine Workers' Union.

Make Change In Mole Hill

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP). — The United States Post Office said today it is all right if people want to make a mountain out of a mole hill.

The department said it has officially entered on its records that Mole Hill, West Virginia, has changed its name to Mountain, West Virginia. Latest figures give the population there as 93.

C.P.R. Opposes Politics Regarding Rate Rulings

OTTAWA, May 27 (CP). — The Canadian Pacific Railway declared today in a brief submitted to the Royal Commission on Transportation that politics should not enter into railway regulation.

The railway's submission was an outline of the material it intends to place before the commission in its inquiry into national transportation which opens June 1 at Winnipeg.

In its reference to politics, the C.P.R. brief indirectly attacked procedure in last year's freight rate increase, on which the Cabinet heard an appeal from seven provinces and subsequently ordered a review of the decision by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

"CARRIED TOO FAR"

While declaring regulation of carriers was necessary, the railway said that if it were carried too far and "if the problem is allowed to become one hedged around with political controversy and subject to political solutions, private enterprise cannot perform its function and must inevitably give way to socialization of the enterprise."

The company added that regulation should be performed by an administrative tribunal "free from the stultifying effect of having its decisions subject to review and appeal by a political tribunal."

Parliament had power to legislate, the railway continued, but it was important that neither Parliament nor the Cabinet should provide the arenas in which questions primarily for the administrative tribunal—the Board of Transport Commissioners—were argued and disposed of.

SCOPE LIMITED

The company also told the commission it would argue during the hearings that the commission's scope of investigation is limited only to proposing new or amending legislation.

Specifically, the 42-page brief said, the commission would not have power to go into a general investigation of the whole freight rate structure—an inquiry which the Cabinet had ordered the Board of Transport Commissioners to undertake before it decided on a Royal Commission.

Also, it would not be able to review last year's award of a 21 per cent rate increase to the railways.

Provinces making submissions to the Royal Commission have been proceeding on the basis of a general freight rate inquiry, and they plan to concentrate their submissions in this line to the commission.

C.S.U. Ouster Reported Being Studied

OTTAWA, May 27 (CP).—Suspension of the Red-influenced Canadian Seamen's Union was reported under consideration today by the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada as it sought a solution to the T.L.C.'s internal split over Communism in its ranks.

But at the end of the second day of closed meetings on the explosive problem, the congress chiefs gave no official indication of what moves they might propose to heal the breach that has divided the T.L.C. membership down the middle for almost a year.

The meeting of the six executive council members adjourned until tomorrow, and congress sources said they expected then a decision one way or the other on the fate of the stormy Seamen's Union.

Harry Bridges Freed on Bail

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27 (AP).—Longshoreman Leader Harry Bridges surrendered in Federal Court today on an indictment charging perjury and fraud in connection with his naturalization in 1945.

Judge Louis Goodman turned down a Government motion that bail be increased to $20,000. Bail was left at $5,000. Two of his aides, also indicted, already have surrendered and posted bail in that amount.

The judge also denied a motion by Bridges' attorney, George Andersen, that the president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (C.I.O.) be released on his own recognizance without bail.

"Here is a man who has been fighting for 12 years to remain in this country and become an American citizen," Andersen said. "He finally became a citizen. Some people have been trying to get him to go to Australia on many occasions. He has been through the courts in several cases and never yet failed to appear."

Ilsley Given Judgeship

OTTAWA, May 27 (CP).—Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, former Justice Minister, today was appointed a judge of the Supreme Court of his native Province of Nova Scotia.

Announcement of Mr. Ilsley's appointment was made by Justice Minister Garson. He replaces Justice R. H. Graham who retires from the bench.

Mr. Ilsley, a 55-year-old lawyer who returned to private practice in Montreal last Summer following a 22-year political career that took him through three Cabinet appointments, now is counsel for the Royal Commission on Transportation.

S.I.U. Gives Attlee Warning Of Boycott for U.K. Shipping

By the Canadian Press

A boycott of British shipping in North American ports appeared a possibility Friday as 3,000 United Kingdom dock workers continued a work stoppage sparked by the far-flung Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) strike.

In Montreal, Hal C. Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) sent a telegram to Prime Minister Attlee asking him to use his offices to end the British stoppage.

The Canadian strike was precipitated when Banks' strongly-rightist union signed with the Shipping Federation of Canada to man its 80-odd freighters.

SYMPATHY STRIKES

The United Kingdom dockers went on strike in the Bristol area in support of 150 of their colleagues who they alleged have been discriminated against for refusing to work strike-bound Canadian ships. Later 1,000 Liverpool dockers walked out in sympathy with them.

Banks, in his telegram to Mr. Attlee, warned that "unless immediate steps are taken to permit free movement of Canadian vessels arriving at British ports, we see no alternative but to ask for the support of the International Longshoremen's Union."

"This," said the union official, "would result in complete dislocation of British ships arriving on this continent."

Meanwhile, the strike had repercussions in ports as far away as Wellington, N.Z., and Capetown.

LOSE APPEAL

At Wellington 26 members of the C.S.U. crew of the Canadian freighter Tridale lost their appeal against a four-week sentence for refusing to obey their captain's lawful orders.

At Capetown, the striking crew of the Halifax-owned freighter Cumberland County were ordered by the courts to show cause why they should not be declared trespassers on their ship. The crew have been on a sit-in strike aboard the Cumberland County for a month.

In Montreal, site of the home offices of the rival unions and most of the shipping companies, Banks himself was arrested on charges of illegal possession of weapons. With four other members of his union he was granted bail and ordered for preliminary hearing.

In Vancouver, where six seamen aboard the freighter Triland were wounded in a battle early Thursday, police reported that an attempt to stage another raid on the ship was thwarted yesterday.

Firm Director Faces Charge By R.C.M.P.

CALGARY, May 27 (CP).—George A. Wilson, vice-president and managing director of the defunct Home Assurance Company of Canada, today was charged by R.C.M.P. with making a false statement of account. He was remanded to June 10 after reserving election and plea in the police court magistrate's office. He is at liberty on bail of $1,800.

The charge alleges that Wilson "between November 1 and January 13, 1948, did make a certain account balance sheet of the annual report of the Home Assurance Company of Canada for the 12 months period ending December 31, 1947, well knowing the same to be false in certain material particulars, to wit, 'claims in course of adjustment' and 'reserves-unearned premiums' with the intent to deceive the shareholders of the said company."

FIVE-YEAR MAXIMUM

The charge is an indictable offence and provides a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment on conviction. The company dealt in general accident and fire insurance policies.

The Home Assurance Company of Canada, with head offices at Calgary, went into liquidation last July 13 when its licence was suspended by C. E. Gerhart, Provincial Secretary.

Rail Head Welcomes Solution

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 27 (CP).—N. R. Crump, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said here today his company will welcome any solution which will settle persistent allegations of territorial inequalities and discriminations in the freight rate structure and at the same time provide an economically sound position for the railways.

Guest speaker at a luncheon sponsored by the Common Council and Board of Trade, Mr. Crump said it is the primary interest of the C.P.R. to provide Canada with an adequate, efficient transportation system.

Buccaneer Enters Swiftsure Race

Familiar sight in waters off Royal Victoria Yacht Club and South Vancouver Island generally, is beautiful 47-foot racing cruiser sloop Buccaneer, owned by H. A. Wallace. Vessel is one of two Canadian Entries in annual 225-mile, three-day Swiftsure Lightship race, to be held this week-end. Race, to start from point off Port Townsend this morning, will end off Victoria breakwater Monday afternoon. With Mr. Wallace aboard as skipper, other crew members will be Humphrey Golby, J. M. Lindsay, D. G. Pladgate and W. H. Richardson. C. J. Harrington, publicity director of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, says frequent reports of the race progress will be carried over a Seattle radio station. About 20 American sailing craft will compete.

Andrew Wright, commodore of R.V.Y.C., and Ned Ashe will serve as crew members aboard the trim 63-foot cutter Circe of Seattle, which will also participate. Circe, famous in Pacific Northwest waters, is owned by Ray Cooke, also a member of the local yachting fraternity. Craft has participated in big Honolulu race on two occasions.

A late entry for the race came from W. R. Morrow of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, who announced that he will seek honors in his 30-foot Rhoedde Class auxiliary cruiser Elusive.

Veteran Victoria Taxi Driver Draws Horse in Sweepstake

Phillip Burnett, Suite 19, Delhi Hotel, claimant of the title of Victoria's veteran cab driver, may be $100,000 richer on June 4—Epsom Derby Day.

Yesterday Mr. Burnett learned that his ticket in the Irish Sweepstakes, £3 25965, had been drawn on Normanton, a 66 to 1 probable starter in the big race.

The $100,000 is what the 69-year-old taximan will win if Normanton comes in first in the Derby.

But even if his horse is scratched or runs out of the money, he still stands to win the £131 that goes to holders of tickets on Derby entries.

If his horse wins the big money, Mr. Burnett said he plans to give $10,000 to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

"If Normanton runs second, I'll give the solarium $5,000," he added.

The veteran taxi driver started in the cab business here way back in 1914 when he was a driver on the old "jitney" service to Willows Race Track.

This is the first time he's ever come up with a lucky ticket, although he says he has bought a ticket "every time out."

Even if he hits the jackpot in the sweepstake, he plans to keep right on driving taxi, Mr. Burnett states.

But he became a little more excited when he was told the odds on Normanton were down to 30 to 1.

MEN ESCAPE IN FALL

Two men narrowly escaped serious injury at 452 Moss Street yesterday morning when they fell from a structure of scaffolding onto a flight of steps, according to city police.

They are Arthur Kneeshaw, 2508 Blanshard Street, and Edwin H. Thompson, 849 Johnson Street.

Police said the accident occurred when a step ladder gave way, throwing the men more than ten feet onto the steps of the house. Kneeshaw suffered an injured wrist and Thompson complained of a sore hip.

First aid was rendered by Sgt. Walter Andrews and Constables Norman Bath and Rodney McNeil.

TO SEEK MEETING

A delegation from Ward Six Ratepayers' Association will seek a meeting with Arthur J. R. Ash, Saanich M.L.A., to press its secession movement.

Sydney Pickles, president, said yesterday repeated efforts to see Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald have failed so a meeting is now being sought with Mr. Ash.

He said the majority of Ward Six residents still are wholeheartedly behind the secession movement, hailing it as the only answer to the problem.

George F. Gregory prosecuted. In his capacity as fire chief, Bayles was acting as local assistant to the fire marshall and had the same status as a special constable, it was reported.

Impound Car After Crash

A car which overturned in an accident at 7:40 a.m. yesterday at the intersection of Fisgard and Douglas Streets was impounded by city police.

The car is owned by Norbert M. Hunt, 956 Fairfield Road, who was driving north on Douglas Street when in collision with a vegetable truck driven east on Fisgard Street by Chew Lee, 739 Pembroke Street.

The Hunt car, after the impact, continued on and turned over on its side. The driver escaped injury. The vegetable truck, after the first impact, reversed its direction and was in collision with a Vancouver Island Coach Lines southbound bus driven by David J. Ready, 311 Simcoe Street.

Aggregate damage was about $600, police estimated.

Inner Harbor Blasting Proves Disappointing

Marine News

The Inner Harbor was blasted last year, and recently was dredged by a suction unit. Shipping circles were happy—but enthusiasm has waned now that it has been learned the blasting and dredging operations have not produced the desired results.

Several local shipping concerns, and particularly the C.P.R., are claiming the harbor has not been deepened. One shipping man says the situation—in some sections—is worse now than before blasting was done.

From various sources yesterday it was learned that blasting of the harbor bottom resulted in portions of the rock crust being broken, loosened, and subsequently pushed upward. Suction dredging removed much silt, clay and smaller rocks, but the larger boulders remained on the harbor floor . . . too large to be drawn through the dredge and out of the way.

FAILED TO WORK OUT

It had been hoped that by removing mud, clay and smaller rocks, large cavities on the harbor bottom would have been created, into which the large boulders would have fallen. The theory, it is claimed was good, but it did not work out that way.

Now, it is understood, the C.P.R. is pressing for the services of a bucket dredge, which would be able to lift and remove the large rocks, which constitute a serious hazard to larger shipping within the harbor.

The deep-drafted Princess Marguerite, new coastal passenger ship of the C.P.R., is able to navigate within the Inner Harbor area, but extreme caution is used at all times. Unfavorable wind conditions make navigation all the more hazardous.

PLAN INVESTIGATION

Representative Jackson told the House yesterday at Washington its Merchant Marine Committee plans to investigate financial affairs of the Alaska Steamship Co. and the Northland Transportation Co.

The two companies operated an Alaska shipping service temporarily under an agreement with the Maritime Commission.

Jackson said Alaska Steamship Co. reported that between May 1, 1947 and December 31, 1948, it made a profit of $678,093 before Federal income taxes, but that an audit by the commission placed the concern's profits at $1,348,716.

The commission told Jackson, he said, that its audit showed $180,000 of the company's profit resulted from ship repairs in its own yard.

Jackson did not go into Northland's profit in his statement to the House.

The companies operated 20 Government ships which were chartered to them at $1 a year each.

What Is Being Given Away for Nothing?

FROM the beginning of the provincial election campaign the C.C.F. candidates have been attacking that phase of the Coalition Government's program of industrial development relating to the establishment of an aluminum industry in British Columbia. By devious means, chiefly the employment of innuendo, they have tried to show that in putting enabling legislation through last session the Government was "giving away for nothing" valuable resources belonging to the people.

What are the resources involved in the proposed agreement with the Aluminum Company of Canada? They are not timber or minerals or any other natural wealth capable of depletion. They are simply large quantities of water that since time began have been flowing to waste into the sea in a remote part of the province; and that will continue to do so unless someone with the necessary capital is given an opportunity to turn them to productive use.

In return for the right to harness this water the Aluminum Company has said it is willing to spend $300,000,000 or more on the establishment of a new industry in British Columbia, drawing its raw materials from sources outside the province. The C.C.F. apparently would rather see the company take its plant and its millions elsewhere than that this now useless water should be turned to profit by private enterprise.

Whatever else they may be, C.C.F. candidates are not wholly blind, and they must know perfectly well that no such development could take place under a socialist government; that no company in its right senses would be willing to hazard hundreds of millions of dollars under threat of confiscation. The distortion to which C.C.F. candidates have resorted in their presentation of the aluminum case is a species of political opportunism that should be recognized at its true value.

Municipal Voting Still in the Doldrums

IT might have been thought that most parents would be so keen on promoting children's education as to turn out in large numbers this week to vote on two new schools for the community. The reverse, unfortunately, has been the case. A mere trickle of city ratepayers, less than 14 per cent, took the trouble to cast a ballot. By comparison with View Royal, where 40 per cent voted, this represents a regrettable indifference, even allowing that the rural section had the direct insentive of a new school for their particular district.

How the by-law fared at the hands of those who did visit the polling booths will not be known until after Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt ratepayers vote today. It is to be hoped that much greater enthusiasm will be shown by the people of these areas. Apathy at elections is a common fault nowadays, strangely enough, but 2,000 votes out of a possible 14,000 is a nadir not to be viewed with complacence. It offers little encouragement to authorities frequently criticized by many who must have stayed at home rather than vote.

On behalf of city ratepayers, however, it has to be said that their convenience is not studied much when it comes to voting. Victoria has grown far beyond the size when one central polling booth was sufficient for its requirements. In all likelihood a larger vote would be cast were there several booths scattered advantageously throughout the city areas. Voting is a duty that should be carried out unfailingly; nevertheless, more consideration could be given in civic polls of all kinds to the practicalities of vote-taking. The moral of Mahomet and the mountain could well apply.

Saanich and Oak Bay voters will have an additional reason for visiting the ballot boxes today, when they add to an expression of opinion on new schools, one for ratification or otherwise of much-needed road and drainage improvement programs respectively.

Vancouver Waterfront Attack Is an Outrage

THE law is made for everyone, and before it each individual is equal. The dastardly attack on three seamen on board ship at Vancouver by an axe-wielding party of malcontents is more reminiscent of tong warfare than of civilized action in a peaceful land. In this instance, the full resources of the administration of justice should be brought to bear until the cowardly fly-by-night assailants are tracked down and dealt with. If any of the three victims had died this would have been murder. That is far too serious a crime to overlook, or to let remain unpunished. No cause in the world can be advanced by such methods and labor's least of all.

Curling Rink Would Be Acquisition

PRIVATE plans for the establishment of a curling rink in Victoria, adjacent to the Memorial Arena, seem to be coming to a head. While the details have not yet been announced, the plans are reported to entail eight sheets of ice for simultaneous playing in a separate structure built for the purpose. Why a curling rink was not incorporated with the Arena project, as it could have been, nobody knows, but that is too late now. Meanwhile local curlers are bringing forward their own scheme, with the request that the City lease a suitable site near the civic structure. If a practical means can be found for bringing this about by private endeavor the result would be well worth while. Curling is a leading attraction in Canada.

SAW PARADE

Sir,—We wish to give special thanks to Mr Bowes of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Police Department and the Boy Scouts for the fine services rendered which enabled us to view the parade, unobstructed, from the windows of a parked car. As we are patients at St. Joseph's Hospital, our appreciation is truly great. Again, thanking you all very much.

SUGGESTING A ZOO

Sir,—Now that Victoria is expanding so rapidly in many directions, may I, as a Fellow of the Zoological Society, London, suggest that a zoo be established at Beacon Hill Park?

It would be a welcome addition to our beautiful park, and a great attraction to our citizens and visitors, as well as providing untold enjoyment for the children—especially when they visited the monkey-house. Vancouver has a zoo, so why not Victoria?

As a site for such an undertaking, the big wire-netting enclosure at present housing some deer, pea-fowl and pheasants might be suitable; or the recently leveled plateau above the Bowling Club.

Ways and means re financing such a project would be decided by the authorities concerned, and doubtless an appeal to the general public for help would meet with a generous response.

SOCIALIZATION

Sir,—As we have to vote next month for a new Government, it is opportune to examine what Socialism means in practice, as opposed to pre-election promises.

From a reliable source in England I have just received a letter from which I quote:

"When our Government takes over municipal services, it does not even do it honestly. Instead of paying a fair market value, it pays only the outstanding liabilities. A well-administered authority will have paid off most of its outstanding loans; an extravagant one will still owe a large proportion of its original debt. In Birmingham, the Electric Supply Department was worth about £40,000,000; the Government is paying the city £12,000,000 for it. The Gas Department is worth £15,000,000; the Government is paying £2,500,000 For the City Transport, worth over £7,000,000, Government will pay only £635,000.

"The leader of the local Socialist Party said that if the Government paid full value it could not make the services pay, yet the municipality has made profits for generations."

These facts may interest your readers, as they throw some light on Socialist morality, once they have gained power.

STANLEY PADDON.

Up-Hill

Does the road wind up-hill all the way?
Yes, to the very end.
Will the day's journey take the whole long day?
From morn to night, my friend.

But is there for the night a-resting place?
A roof for when the slow dark hours begin.
May not the darkness hide it from my face?
You cannot miss that inn.

Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before.
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will not keep you standing at that door.

Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labour you shall find the sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yea, beds for all who come.

—CHRISTINA ROSSETTI.

Nothing is so rash as fear; and the counsels of pusillanimity very rarely put off, whilst they are always sure to aggravate, the evils from which they would fly. —EDMUND BURKE.

There is also some little delight in having pleased one's self.—OVID.

Maytime

LET the world fuss as it will, Nature produces her own miracles. Maytime in Victoria this year has been like a page out of the diary of Titania, the queen of the fairies. On golden headlands fronting the blue sea masses of broom glow in the warm sunshine, with overhead the coasting gulls and darting swifts. Across the Strait of Juan de Fuca, changing from emerald to sapphire and to turquoise in the evening light, the Olympics raise their snowclad crests in stately grandeur. Seen from a height, Victoria is a city not of rooftops but of trees; verdant masses tracing the avenues from their centre to the distant rim.

This year the growing season caught its breath, and early and late Spring flowers bloomed together. Seldom has there been such a showing of vivid, glowing colors. New life was everywhere, and it was gay, vibrant and alive with timeless, treasured memories. Snowdrop, tulip and daffodil; chestnut, laburnum and broom; hawthorn, lilac and wisteria; from branch to leaf, from blossom to petal-rain, the gay parade has marched on. Now come the roses in their borders, beds and hedgerows, mile after mile of them in all their graceful charm.

* * *

If a visitor wants really to see Victoria these days, he should walk along May Street when the soft west wind is blowing and watch the petal-rain, the drifting of the rose and white confetti in the air; or Cook Street, where still the faffies ride their tiny roundabouts on every chestnut standard; or Oscar Street, where the silver birch reveals filigrees against the reddening sunset; or for that matter anywhere, for it is all of one piece. Bleak the heart and dull the mind that cannot respond to it, this quiet giving for which Nature asks so very little in return.

It is no wonder that the birds sing. The missel thrush calls the sun from its bed, carolling from the tip of a Lombardy poplar. Quail whistle and pipe in the coverts. Sparrows dot the brambles, like notes on a scale, singing their busy litany. Gulls pipe over the calm sea or scream in the wake of a passing vessel. Soon will arrive the meadowlark, with its six enchanted dream-songs; while out in Saanich already has been heard the field lark—soaring, singing, praising its god in a deep blue sky. At night, after twilight has added its opalescent hour, the vesper sparrow chirrs itself to sleep.

* * *

Some call it the City of Gardens. Little or large, formal or haphazard, the gardens are there. This year it would seem they were never more lovely. A riot of color, they extend throughout the city and its environs, far into the countryside. By night, their scents ride the evening air like incense; redolent, sweet, nostalgic for many with memories of their childhood homes in the long ago and far away. Each month of the year if it wished Victoria could stage a major flower show, and not once repeat itself. Half a dozen such displays are arranged, and they are enough to take the breath away; but this city could have a Calendar of Flowers if it wished, with a flower-of-the-month for each stage of the year.

No one can see Victoria properly by guide or by conducted tour. The best way is to leave one's home and wander. Around each corner there will be a fresh surprise; a sudden, glowing wonder. May is the month for it, and in Maytime Victoria needs no trumpeter. On every headland, in every garden plot and hedgerow there is magic, powerful subtle magic, for the restless human soul.

Let Them All Sit

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer ordered that a chair be brought for a young girl witness so that she should not have to stand up during her examination. Good!

But it is time that chairs were provided for all witnesses. That the giving of evidence should be made as trying as possible by forcing the witnesses to stand is one of the less commendable features of our court procedure. To most people testifying is an ordeal under any circumstances. Surely a comfortable witness is more likely to give intelligent testimony than one wearied by standing.

Speculation Builds Nations

By LESLIE GOULD
In The Seattle Post-Intelligencer

THE Secretary of the Treasury points with evident pride that speculation has been "virtually absent" in recent years. This, in John Snyder's opinion, makes the country's economic situation fundamentally sound.

Just how sound, he evidently is a little confused, for he admits that one major industry after another has been going through what he softly calls a postwar readjustment.

While he says speculation was "more decisive than any other single factor in impairing the economic health of the nation in 1929," he fails to explain how there can be a recession now in business in view of the current absence of speculation. There is a recession in business, which Mr. Snyder admits—all of which makes his remarks on speculation a little ridiculous.

Mr. Synder may be the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Henry Morgenthau Jr., or Andrew Mellon—you can make your own guess on that—but if he doesn't know by now he had better learn quickly that speculation is what made this country great.

Without speculation, this country will never again be able to win a great war or continue to raise the living standards of the workers to even higher levels.

* * *

In order for a worker in an automobile plant to have a job—someone had to speculate—take a risk. That is, put up the money for the venture. A few won out on their speculation, but many lost. Since the start of the motor car industry, 1,854 companies were launched for the manufacture of the horseless buggies. Of these, 227 were started in the last 30 years. Out of that total, only 43 remain today.

If no one had wanted to take a risk—speculate, that is—there would be no automobile industry. No electrical industry. No railroad industry. No aviation industry. No radio and television. At least, to the extent these have been developed. For to develop each one, someone had to take a risk. Had to speculate.

The willingness to speculate has brought this country to a point where its citizens have the highest living standard anywhere in the world. And it couldn't have been done by the politicians in government. It had to be done by private enterprise.

* * *

Instead of boasting that speculation is "virtually absent," John Snyder should be crying about it, and he should be asking Congress to ease some of the taxes that are stifling speculation.

It may be all well and good to be selling the public on ownership of government bonds, but they also should be sold on the long-term advantages of being stockholders in American free enterprise.

Bar Sinister

(From The Times, London)

CITIZENS wishing to include the name of a racehorse in a telegram (and alas! not a few of these profligates exist) now know where they stand. If the horse's name contains more than one word, the Postmaster General has ruled that each word must be paid for separately, but if the words are linked by a hyphen or hyphens they all go for the price of one. In other words, a horse called (for the sake of argument) In Other Words is more expensive to bet on than a horse called Love-In-A-Mist.

Many consequences of this arbitrary decision are possible. It does not, for instance, need an expert economist to see that an owner who calls his horse Love-In-A-Mist is, if not actually defrauding the Post Office, at least denying it a legitimate opportunity of increasing its revenue. If he called the animal Duckbill Platybus, or One For The Road, it is obvious that the Postmaster General's chances of making—in his official capacity—money on it would have been in the first case twice and in the second four times as great as they actually are. The owner might of course argue that Love-In-A-Mist is the sort of name which, by attracting to the totalisator the marginal and whimsical florins of the fair sex, swells the coffers of the Racecourse Betting Control Board; but this is a paltry sort of defence, for people who like the name would like it as well without the hyphens.

These convenient symbols seem, as a matter of fact, to have proved in the past almost fatal to a horse's chance of success in the classic events. It is true that Mid-Day Sun won the Derby in 1937 and Tide-Way the 1,000 Guineas in the previous year. But apart from these isolated successes no hyphenated horse has been first, second or third in any of the five classic races during the last fifty years, so that to burden these sagacious creatures at the outset of their careers with what appears to be a serious handicap is an act—apart from everything else—of questionable wisdom.

The amount of money lost by private individuals betting on horses with hyphens in their names since the turn of the century must have been considerable; and owners would be well advised, both in their own interests and in the Postmaster General's, to dispense—as he himself does—with a symbol which is generally as superfluous as it is inauspicious.

A six-year-old English boy daubed all the paint he could find on a piece of paper and then while it was still wet a cat happened to sit on it. Some wag put it on exhibition and critics proclaimed it an excellent example of modern art. This confirms one of our long-standing suspicions.—Detroit Free Press.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

WASHING the family car is traditionally a man's job. But the matter might stand a little review.

By nature, a man is not a good washer of anything. When a boy, he has to be sent back upstairs practically every day of his life to re-do the back of his neck, behind his ears, and his knuckles.

By dint of long and brutal insistence, a boy is turned, by the time he is fifteen to eighteen, into a fairly competent slosher of soap and water around his person. But the fact is, he never really cottons to it.

Women, on the other hand, are natural born washers. At three years of age, a little girl is already melting her dolls in soap suds or smearing window sills with dish rags.

Around a motor car, there are places just as tiresome to get at, for a man, as behind the ears is for a boy. In polishing the windows for example, there is that patch of glass in behind the rear-view mirror. Around door handles, down in beside the headlights and front bumper are all sorts of anatomical crannies, fiddly doos and pockets which just naturally baffle a man's hand. For a generation now, women have been coming out on the veranda, when the job is done, to exclaim and praise the efforts of the men, as they stand, hose in hand, all flushed and beaming, beside the freshly washed car.

But if you can forget your silly pride long enough, at that instant, to glance shrewdly and intelligently at the lady up there on the veranda, you will detect, beneath her praises, a slightly amused or even contemptuous undertone. . . . When you take the cleaning stuff back down cellar, often enough, she will pop out with a rag and do a little touching up.

Now for the pay off: all over the United States, service stations are employing women as car washers!

Use of the expression dates back many centuries. In olden times there was a belief that crocodiles actually shed tears while eating their victims. Sir John Maundeville, writing of travels in or about the year 1400, refers to a country in which there was "gret plentee of cokadrilles" which slew men and ate them while "wepynge."

Pass Order in Council Boosting Aged Pensions

British Columbia old age pensioners will soon be receiving a $10 increase in pensions, raising them to $50 a month, the highest in Canada.

In a speech last night in the Empress Hotel, Premier Byron I. Johnson said the order in council making a new agreement with the Federal Government was approved yesterday.

The increase, said the Premier, will add another $750,000 annually to British Columbia's $5,000,000 pension bill. The increase represents an added $2.50 per month for every pensioner. The Federal Government pays $7.50.

CONTINUE BONUS

At the same time, Mr. Johnson said, the Government would continue paying its $10 a month living bonus over the new basic rate of $40, shared 25 per cent by the Province, 75 per cent by the Dominion.

He said the Government hoped the increased cost would be paid for by returns from the Sales Tax.

The Premier was speaking in support of Coalition candidates in the Greater Victoria area. On the platform with him were former Premier John Hart, Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria candidates, and Dr. J. M. Twiss, who acted as chairman.

Each candidate spoke briefly. Mrs. Hodges said she was greatly disturbed to hear talk over the province that election was "in the bag" for the Coalition.

When people started talking like that, said Mrs. Hodges, it was time to start worrying.

The thing to fear most, she said, was the apathy of those who think the free enterprise way. Mrs. Hodges said she was "shocked" at the apathy shown in the vote on the school by-law in Victoria, where only 14 per cent of those eligible cast a ballot.

TWO PROMISES

Mr. Proudfoot said he was leaving the speech-aking to the Premier, and remarked that he made only two promises, to support the Premier and Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb "without reservation" and to do his best, if elected.

During his review of Coalition achievements, Mr. Johnson referred to the great industrial expansion which had followed the Hart power development at Campbell River and stated he had been informed by Power Commission Chairman S. R. Weston that it would soon be inadequate to serve the growing demands for power on the Island.

Anscomb Back in Political Fray, Tells of Coalition's Future Aims

Stalwart warhorse of the Coalition Government, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Provincial Finance Minister, came back to the active political fray last night.

Showing little signs of the ill-health that has been keeping him more or less on the sidelines, Mr. Anscomb, in the second speech he has made since his return to active campaigning, undertook to do a little skirmishing in the Saanich riding on behalf of Liberal Arthur Ash, Coalition candidate in the riding.

GIVES BRIEF REVIEW

The leader of the Progressive Conservatives gave a brief review of the accomplishments and aims of the Coalition as he urged his audience in the Royal Oak Community Hall to get out the vote on June 15.

And he took time out from his statistics to score the apathy of the British Columbia voter, stressing the scant 15 per cent vote on the recent school by-law as an example of public indifference.

"If these people don't bestir themselves free enterprise is going to be voted out in this province one of these days," he said.

Mr. Anscomb said he was surprised to note that there was only one Communist candidate that he knew of in this coming election.

"I think I know where they are," he stated. "They've gone where they will be welcomed with open arms."

SUPPORTS TAX

The Finance Minister went to bat again for the 3 per cent social security tax.

"I know it's unpopular," he said. "But it doesn't hurt anybody."

The $900,000 paid by the Celanese Corporation at Prince Rupert showed that heavy industry was carrying the burden of the tax, he stated.

Speaking on education Mr. Anscomb pointed out that 900 extra school rooms "requiring 900 new teachers" had been built in B.C. in the last two-and-one-half years.

The minister of education has plans for school construction in the next three or four years calling for expenditures of $53,000,000 — $26,000,000 from the province, he stated.

Increased costs all along the line had been partly caused by the influx to the province from other parts of Canada, Mr. Anscomb stated.

"We've had 84,000 from Saskatchewan alone since 1942," he stated.

POSITIVE ASSURANCES

On provincial development questions the finance minister made positive assurances.

This time, he said, a start was definitely being made on P.G.E. extension.

"Tenders have been called for June 10 for the first 14 miles of construction between Quesnel and Prince George.

"The contract may be let before the election," he stated.

"The railway can't serve our increased population without going from somewhere to somewhere," he stated.

"It must eventually be extended into the Peace River area."

Waiting for the railroad in the Peace River was an estimated 200,000,000 tons of "good anthracite coal" he said.

C.C.F. Speakers Rap Policies

Three C.C.F. speakers in a meeting in the Burnside district last night attacked Government policies which, they stated, were "exploiting the people."

The speakers were Mrs. A. P. Rayment and Mrs. May Campbell, C.C.F. candidates in the Victoria riding, and Mrs. P. Luchinski, party candidate for Oak Bay.

Calling the C.C.F. the "real people's party," Mrs. Campbell said that it had grown out of a need for actual representation in a government that had been exploiting the natural resources and the people of the country "since early settlement days."

The hardships of the country's senior citizens were stressed by Mrs. Luchinski.

"They are paying $15.552 a month in British Columbia toward their own pensions," she stated.

Mrs. Rayment attacked the Ottawa Government's "attitude" to subsidized low rental housing.

At least half the taxpayers of Canada have incomes below $1,500 a year," she stated. "They couldn't pay economic rents."

Positive Anti-Depression Campaign Needed at All Times Advises Abbott

MONTREAL, May 27 (CP).—Depressions are not inevitable "but they become inevitable if enough people believe they are inevitable," Finance Minister Abbott said tonight.

In an address prepared for delivery to the graduating class in arts and science and commerce of McGill University, Mr. Abbott urged confidence and humility as qualities most needed by those who will day become leaders in our Canadian community."

RIDDEN FOR YEARS

"We are in danger of being ridden by our fears—fear of a depression, fear of another war, fear of Communism and so on," Mr. Abbott said.

"These fears must not be allowed to become the mainsprings of our action."

Communists recognized that a depression would occur if enough people thought it would.

"I do not know if those in command of the Russian Communist party really believe that Western society cannot avoid economic chaos. But they are smart enough to know that their propaganda, if it is successful, will bring about the result they hope for."

Mr. Abbott said he was not recommending a "blind eye" to the possibility of a depression. A positive anti-depression policy should be pursued vigorously, in good times and bad. But "without confidence, such policies will be of little avail."

IRRATIONAL BEHAVIOUR

Fear of war and fear of Communism, Mr. Abbott said, also could lead to irrational political behaviour, just as fear of depression could lead to irrational economic behaviour.

"But our fear and hatred of war must not lead us into believing that war can be avoided simply by not giving offence to the possible enemy . . . If we have ideals in which we believe, let us stand up for them. If we have friends in whom we can trust, let us stand with them."

He was proud that Canada was the first to ratify the North Atlantic Treaty, and said the same policy—confidence in the strength of free institutions—was the best answer to Communism.

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP).—The Cambridge University Union debate motion "that modern culture is decadent" was defeated by 154 votes to 8.

New Canadians Topic of Talk

NANAIMO, May 27.—Speaking to 14 affiliated women's societies in the Eagles' Hall, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president of the National Council of Women of Canada, urged that the country be made such a fine place for new Canadians that they would readily see the difference between Canadian democracy and Communism.

She was accompanied by National recording secretary, Mrs. R. H. Rowland, and Mrs. G. D. Findlayson, who each gave a brief account of the inner workings of the national executive of the council.

It was the first time a National Council president had visited Nanaimo. Mrs. Mary Z. Brown, president of the Nanaimo Council of Women, was chairman.

MORE WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. Marshall advised councils to avoid party politics in accordance with national by-laws, but pointed out women could have anything they wanted with their strength of affiliation. She said women were in the majority as voters.

Co-ordination and co-operation of all women's groups, clubs, societies and councils for peace, their efforts toward the furtherance of citizenship, education, and the United Nations, were very important, she pointed out.

She said women were celebrating the 100th year of progress from their former comfortably inferior position. They had the franchise, rights of education, and equal rights for equal jobs in some places which their mothers and grandmothers had fought for. It behooved women to pick up the franchise and use it, she advised.

Claims Liquor Held For Nanaimo Party

NANAIMO, May 27.—Various kinds of liquors and cartons of beer were piled up as exhibits in police court at the trial of Wallace Chang, a native-born Chinese general merchant, and well-known court interpreter, charged with keeping liquor for sale at his Hecate Street home. Police raided the home of Chang early Sunday morning and found the exhibits on a pantry shelf, under beds, and under a staircase, according to evidence.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts reserved decision until Tuesday.

Defence witnesses testified they had given Chang presents of whiskey, which is a Chinese custom when a house-warming party is in sight. Chang was having $4,500 alterations done to his home, and according to his evidence was purchasing liquor occasionally for the anticipated event, in addition to that which he had received as presents. Their remained several bottles of whiskey unaccounted for as gifts when all evidence was in.

In the witness box, Chang testified he was not guilty, he did not sell liquor, and had never sold liquor.

Constable Nelson Stephen testified that upon entering the house he went to a room where a woman and children were in bed. He said the accused remarked: "Wait, and I'll get it for you." Chang produced some liquor and indicated it was all he had. A further search by the officer disclosed more liquor concealed under clothing and beds.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

Police Believe Man Lost on Sea Coast

CAMPBELL RIVER, May 27.—Provincial Police are searching the coast from Campbell River to Kelsey Bay for traces of Kristian Sindland, 67, missing since May 13. Mr. Sindland's rowboat was found floating bottom up near Deep Water Bay by J. Adams, a logger.

Police believe the missing man may have encountered a strong west wind and a riptide which capsized his small craft.

Mr. Sindland left his wallet, a watch, and dishes on the kitchen table at his home, which led searchers to believe he had not intended staying away for long. His mail had not been picked up since May 13, and a milkman reported milk left at the door had not been taken in since that date.

CHINGFORD, Essex, England (CP).—Despite protests from the local Chamber of Trade, Chingford Council will introduce a radio relay system in council apartments.

"I'm in business for myself"

Allan McDonald, Owner of Morva Service, Chevron Gas Station, Chilliwack, B.C.

"I guess Morva Service, outside of Chilliwack, was just about the smallest gas station in B.C. back in 1936. On a 18 ft. by 10 ft. lot I had a general store and one hand pump. No electricity . . . no water. I sold about 25 gallons of gasoline a month, and my savings were nickles and dimes put aside in a special tin box. It took time, but those savings grew until I had enough to finance a new, larger Morva Service. Hard work? Yes, but I've had time for outside interests, too. I'm manager of the cup-winning Morva Atchelitz boys' basketball team. I've made lots of good friends. And with those good friends, good products and good luck, I've built the old Morva Service into a business I'm proud to own."

It is a good thing for players to remember that when they have a hand with extraordinary distribution, they should, whenever possible, guard against freakish suit breaks. After today's deal, South felt that he had been extremely unlucky, but wiser precautions would have kept him in better humor.

West opened the club king, and, when his partner signalled with the ten, laid down the club ace. Declarer ruffed, gave dummy a pleased inspection, and then proceeded to lay down the ace and king of hearts. He was severely shocked when East ruffed the second heart lead.

East returned the diamond king. Dummy's ace won, and declarer ruffed a diamond. He then ruffed a heart with dummy's trump king, but he was nearing the end of his rope. There was no way to salvage either of the losing hearts which remained in the closed hand, and thus South had to go down one trick.

A safety play in the heart suit was decidedly indicated in this case! After ruffing a second club lead, South should have cashed no more than one high heart; then he should have led a low heart, cheerfully giving this trick to the enemy! He could easily control any return, and now could ruff another low heart with dummy's spade king. After drawing trumps he would still have a high heart to cash, and thus would easily hold his losers to three tricks —one club and two hearts.

PETER RABBIT FIGHTS TEMPTATION

The hardest fights of all to win
Are those that must be fought within.

When at last Peter Rabbit slipped out from among the ferns clustered about the foot of the great tree in the Green Forest where he had accidentally found Mrs. Gobbler and her nest, he first made sure that the way was wholly clear. Left to himself, Peter probably would have simply looked this way and that hastily, and gone about his business if the way seemed clear. But Peter wasn't left to himself. On her nest right behind him was Mrs. Gobbler, and she would take no risks. She insisted that Peter should look very carefully this way and very carefully that way and very carefully the other way before he left the shelter of those thick growing ferns.

"It isn't just for enemies you must look, but for friends as well," she warned him. "Friends sometimes are more dangerous than enemies. You must make sure that no one sees you leave here. If some well-meaning friend should happen to see you leave here, they might take a notion to look in here to find out what you were doing here, and then my secret would be out."

So Peter made sure that there wasn't a soul near, and then he said good-bye and started forth. Remember your promise!" hissed Mrs. Gobbler as Peter scampered away.

Now Peter had made a double promise, as you remember. That is, it was a promise with two parts. First, he wasn't to tell a single soul about that nest; second, he wasn't to visit it again himself. It was easy enough to make that promise. It always is easy to make a promise. You know that. But keeping that promise was a very difficult matter. He wanted to tell Mrs. Peter. He wanted to tell everyone he met. He felt that it was something to boast about. He, Peter Rabbit, had found what no one else in all the Green Forest had found and yet because of his promise, he couldn't brag even a little. It was very hard, very hard indeed.

The first time after that that he met Big Tom he almost forgot. It was right on the tip of his tongue to say, "I know where Mrs. Gobbler is!" Then just in time he remembered, and instead of stopping as usual for a chat with Big Tom, he turned about and scampered away as fast as he could, lipperty-lipperty-lip. Big Tom thought that Peter was running away from him, but he wasn't. He was running away from temptation. You see, it was a very great temptation to brag to Big Tom that he, Peter, had found out which Big Tom so much desired to know, and hadn't been able to find out.

"Remember your promise!" hissed Mrs. Gobbler as Peter scampered out.

Then there is Sammy Jay. He is so clever at finding out things about other people's affairs that it was the very hardest kind of hard work for Peter not to boast to Sammy about having found something that Sammy hadn't. But hard as all this was, it was still harder not to visit that place where Mrs. Gobbler and her nest were so well hidden. Peter wanted to know how things were coming on. He wanted to know when Mrs. Gobbler expected those eggs to hatch. He wanted to know a lot of things. Several times he found himself over by that clump of ferns at the foot of the great tree, and just in time remembered his promise. On each occasion he scampered past as fast as he could, lipperty-lipperty-lip. You see, Peter's way of fighting temptation is to run away from it. That usually is the best way if you are not strong enough to face it and overcome it. And so he faithfully kept Mrs. Gobbler's secret.

Next Story: Peter gets his reward.

Rita Hayworth, Now a Princess, Married in Simple Blue Crepe

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

CANNES, France, May 27 (AP). — The girl from Brooklyn and Hollywood, Rita Hayworth, became a princess today by marrying the Aly Khan.

The French civil ceremony will be followed soon by religious rites in the Moslem faith of the bridegroom.

Tonight, after a reception run off at the rate of 15 bottles of champagne a guest, the couple were mapping a honeymoon that will include a trip to England for the Derby.

Paul Derigon, Communist mayor of the village, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The actress, radiant in a light-blue, silk-crepe dress and broad picture hat wound with tulle of the same delicate color, appeared just a little nervous.

Then a reception centring about the swimming pool was held at Aly's Chateau de L'Horizon.

According to the official town record of the marriage, Rita is 30 years of age and Aly is 37.

Rita has been a Roman Catholic. Her real name is Margarita Carmen Cansino.

The French Government had insisted that the wedding be performed in the Vallauris Town Hall instead of Aly's chateau.

One hundred and twenty police were called in from Nice to prevent any disturbance from marring the wedding. They had little to do.

SIMPLY DRESSED

Rita Hayworth was simply, but sweetly dressed for the ceremony that made her a princess. The multitude of tiny pleats of her calf-length pale-blue crepe dress fluttered gracefully as she walked up the front steps of the tiny city hall.

The bodice of the dress was tightly fitted as were the long sleeves. The neckline was modestly cut in the shape of a "V." A large picture hat was pinned to the back of her head revealing that her dark auburn hair was pulled behind her ears and curled to shoulder length.

Small pearl earrings were at her [illegible] to-be wore when she entered the marriage hall. To complete her outfit Rita wore wrist-length black suede gloves and black suede shoes with high, slender heels.

The rest of the female Western guests, with few exceptions, were dressed in pastel-flowered prints, straw hats and carried gloves and bags.

No one wore the Moslem dress with more charm than the beautiful Begum, present wife of the Aga Khan. Her floor-length sky-blue sari and flowing scarf over her head were of crepe de chine. Pearl necklace and earrings and two large diamond bracelets on her arm completed her dress.

Garden Party, June 1

Oak Bay O.E.S. will hold the annual garden party and tea on Wednesday, June 1, at the home of Mrs. A. Rigby, 573 Manchester Road. The affair will be officially opened by Mrs. Williams at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. George Bowers is general convener and Mrs. K. Wilkerson will be in charge of the tea arrangements. There will be stalls of home cooking and novelties and cards will be played during the evening.

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

Then torn by sympathy she cried, "I'm sorry that you had to learn it the hard way, Linda, but it's true."

"I—I don't believe you," Linda whispered dully. "If you knew the things he said—the things he wrote in his letter! And he never mentioned you, except to say that you were a friend."

Diane nodded wisely. "I've come up against this sort of thing many times. Greg is like that—impulsive, headstrong, completely selfish. But when he's through—he's through. Why, when he came up here last night it was to take me to dinner, not because he knew you were here."

Suddenly Linda's face turned scarlet and her eyes grew hot with anger. "I don't believe you," she cried. "This is a trick! A neatly-planned trick of your own!"

"But it isn't, Linda. Greg left this morning with a group of scientists for South America. He won't be back for six months. Does that look like a trick to you?"

Linda ignored her, rushing on heedlessly, blindly. "You love Greg and you despise me because Greg loves me. You want to turn him against me, but you can't, and I'll tell him the truth. I'll tell him everything you've said!"

"Oh, Linda, why don't you face facts?" Diane cried desperingly. "I've told you everything. Ask Mary Baridon if you distrust me, or ask Brenda, or—yes, Steve Baridon can tell you. Everyone knows."

"Everyone knows?" Linda was crushed. "Everyone knows Greg Hollister is a philanderer; that he swept a little girl from the sticks right off her feet?"

She laughed mockingly. "What a joke that must be among your sophisticated friends. Think of it! Greg, your fiance, making a play for a visitor in your own home. A country girl you pretended to befriend. You know that he had been out with me, and you didn't say a word. I suppose it amused you to see him making a fool of me—ruining my entire life—"

Linda's voice broke and she glanced down at her dress. "To think that I accepted your hospitality! Even the dress I'm wearing belongs to you!" Roughly she seized the fragile tulle between her fingers.

"This is what I think of you and your hospitality," she sneered, and before the horror-stricken Diane could intervene she was ripping and crushing the beautiful gown to shreds. Then she stamped defiantly on the tattered remains.

"Now," she said grimly, "get out of here. Get out." She pushed Diane from the room, and then closed and locked the door.

Diane was speechless with amazement. Surely this girl so beside herself with frustration, so hurt and bewildered, was not soft-spoken, gentle Linda Phillips. Diane pounded on the bedroom door, pleading with the girl to admit her, but only silence answered her entreaties. Then, when Diane thought she could stand that grim silence no longer, the door was flung open and Linda emerged, clad in her hat and coat. Her face was pale.

"Linda!" Diane clutched the girl's arm, but Linda jerked away. "Where are you going?" and, again, "Answer me, Linda. Tell me!"

Silence met her pleading. Diane cried out again as Linda moved toward the door, leading to the corridor, "You have no money. No friends here! Linda—where will you go?"

"Does it matter?" She reached the door and jerked it open. "Does anything matter now? You've had your amusement. Your friends can chuckle over this all Winter."

There was a final harsh sob, a choked, "Does anything matter... now?" Then the door closed.

Linda Phillips was gone!

How long Diane stood staring across the room she would never know. She was conscious only that Linda had been hurt—so badly hurt that anything was possible now. Anything!

Suddenly there was a rap at the door, and she sprang to answer it, crying hopefully, "Linda?"

But it was Stephen Baridon who stood on the threshold. His expression changed from one of polite boredom to quick concern at the stark terror written on Diane's face.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

Diane cried pathetically:

"It's Linda. She's gone."

"Gone? Where?"

"I don't know. I wish I did. I told her about Greg and me. At first she didn't believe me, and then she ran away."

"Maybe she'll cool off and come back," Steve suggested in a vain attempt to soothe her obviously over-wrought nerves.

"You don't know Linda as I do." The artist was sobbing hysterically now. "She's never been like this before. Oh, Steve—I'm afraid!" She clutched his arm with trembling fingers. "If you had seen her face—the dying look in her eyes, as though she didn't care what happened to her any more . . ."

"But where could she go?" Steve was plainly worried.

"I don't know, I tell you. She doesn't know a soul in Chicago, and she didn't have any money." A new though struck her. She didn't even take her bag with her, just ran out into the night—"

Diane stopped short, for Steve had dashed toward the door.

"Wh—where are you going?" she asked, pitifully.

Steve's words left her trembling with a new unnamed fear.

"To find Linda Phillips," he said as he raced down the corridor. "Before it's too late."

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP).—Wall Street started out on an early holiday week-end. Business on the stock exchange totaled up to one of the smallest figures of the year. Prices declined—some to the year's lowest levels—but the losses were due more to buying apathy than to large offerings.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP).—Grains and soybeans dropped on the Board of Trade today. The market ran into several selling flurries during the session with little recovery power between them. Prices got off to an easier start, following overnight news that the Senate had turned down a bill to give the Commodity Credit Corporation authority to provide additional grain storage space.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, March 27 (CP).—Prices continued sliding for the second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Base metals dropped to new lows for the year, and a wide list of industrials showed fractional losses. Golds opened steady, but backed down in mid-session as senior and junior producers slackened.

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK May 27 (CP).—The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 4¼ per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings. The pound sterling was unchanged at $4.02⅞.

London Market

LONDON, May 27 (Reuters).—A rally in British Government stocks gave a better tone to the London Stock Exchange. After a hesitant opening, buyers appeared for gilt-edged short-dated issues, and small gains resulted. A sprinkling of small improvements were shown by leading industrial issues.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, May 27 (CP).—Coarse grains continued to move narrowly in dull trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, but prices however showed a firm trend. Dealings in oats were light, with occasional buying appearing from American accounts. Offerings were on a fair scale.

SAANICH RATEPAYERS!
BEWARE ROAD MONEY BY-LAW
VOTE NO AND PREVENT ADDITIONAL TAXATION AND BONDED INDEBTEDNESS ON YOUR PROPERTY
This non-essential loan of well over a quarter of a million dollars carries a total interest bill of $53,450.00, which is over 17% of the money borrowed. YOU have to pay this interest bill and get nothing for it. YOU also must repay the $270,000.00 loan.
The wording of this by-law is not at all clear, and provision is made to reconsider its terms AFTER you have voted the money. If you vote YES you do not know exactly what you are voting for except additional taxation and indebtedness. Be prudent and Vote NO.
The roads can and will be repaired out of general revenue and refunds from the transportation company under their franchise—as it should be—after you have decided not to mortgage your future security to provide a huge sum of non-essential borrowed money. We must be content with less elaborate roads for a while.
An economic recession is now here and we are facing serious possibility of a depression when additional taxation can deprive us of our homes and properties.
Remember the large sum of money spent on the Municipal Hall against the expressed vote of the ratepayers.
Stop the present trend to further burden all ratepayers by rash borrowing of money. Let us adopt a sane pay-as-you-go policy and insist that our Council follow it.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE WORD "IMMOLATE"—First Cousin to the Molar Tooth!

Today persons are accused of immolating themselves on the altar of money or power, and the term is accepted without curiosity almost as a synonym for bowing down, or as a metaphor for sacrifice, which it is. However, this is very much of an over-simplification, which loses sight of as good a story as can be found in words.

"Immolate" started as a specific aspect of sacrifice in the studies [illegible] know it, the animal [illegible] to the sprinkling or the victim of the sacrificial meal. This consisted of grits or grains of spelt coarsely ground and mixed with salt, and the word for the meal was mola. Prefixed by "im" this made immolare to sacrifice—and the [illegible] "immolate."

Now, the "mola" denoting the ground meal also named the mill where it was ground. And that aspect of sacrifice in the studies [illegible] "molere." [illegible] one finds not only [illegible] for the mill, but another [illegible] "molere" having the power to grind, whence the [illegible]

Next game tomorrow, Douglas Fir vs. Timber Service, 2:30 p.m.

With Brentwood Aces playing their third game in as many nights, Manager Ron Knott was stuck for a starting hurler last night so he took the mound himself. All he did was match the last performance of his teammate, Bob Hutchison, as he set Chinese Students down with four scattered hits to produce the Brentwood Aces to a 9-1 triumph at Upper Cordova Bay Park. Knott, who likewise wielded a timely bat, pounded the Suburban nine into undisputed possession of third place in the Senior "A" Mens Softball League standings, a full game ahead of Students.

PULLS OUT OF HOLE

The rotund veteran was in complete command on the hill. He retired the Students in order in the first four innings and was only in trouble in the fifth when a single and two walks the only ones he gave up, filled the bases with none out. He got two of next batters to pop up and took the third on strikes. Knott lost his shutout in the eighth when opposing hurler Hutchison drove a terrific home run into the lower field diamond. Knott struck out seven.

Aces opened the scoring in the first frame when Hal Benson singled home Ab Yourdon, who had walked. They added three markers in the second on a pair of singles, a walk and Jim Lorenzo's double. They boosted their margin in the third innings to 9-0.

Forest Products came from behind a 14-6 nine-inning defeat to hand Army and Navy Vets their first loss of the season 14-14 in a senior "B" menu contest at Victoria West. George Brown's three-run homer in the ninth turned the tide.

Sidney Roofing downed Selkirk Lumber 5-3, in another "B" game at Work Point.

Toppers stemmed a late rally by Eagettes to take a 7-6 decision in a senior womens fixture at Central Park.

Yankees Maintain Pace; Blank Nearest Pursuers

By The Canadian Press

The amazing New York Yankees, rated no better than a third place bet for American League honors at the start of the season, seem determined to give the baseball world that their surprising early-season performance was no fluke.

The Yankees trounced their closest rivals, the Philadelphia Athletics by a cold combination of eight and watered the cup between the teams to 5½ games.

The New York mound staff undoubtedly the best in the league at this time, got another good job from Ed Lopat yesterday. He racked up his fifth straight victory without defeat as he bested the A's with a six-hitter. The batting punch was supplied by veteran Tommy Henrich who lofted another homer over the wall.

INDIANS REVIVE

While the Yankees were taking the of the Athletics, the world-champion Cleveland Indians came to life and shot up the Chicago White Sox 4-0 behind the six-hit pitching of veteran Al Benton. The champs, now residing in seventh place in the standings, jumped on Lefty Bill Wight for two-run splurges in the third and seventh innings.

Virgil Trucks pitched another six-hitter against St. Louis Browns and beat them 8-4 to snap Detroit Tiger's six game losing streak. Dick Kokos of the Browns hit his eighth home run of the season in the eighth inning.

BROOKS BLANK BRAVES

In the National League, veteran Preacher Roe turned in his second straight shutout as he pitched Brooklyn Dodgers to a 4-0 triumph over the Boston Braves. Spider Jorgensen drove home three of the Dodger runs with a double off Johnny Sain in the seventh.

The Philadelphia Phillies mauled five New York pitchers for 14 hits, including three triples and a home run as they defeated the giants 9-2 in the opener of a four-game series.

A combination of tight pitching by Lefty Al Brazle and a two-run homer by Rookie Eddie Kazak gave St. Louis Cards a 2-1 nod over Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Chicago Cubs finally left the National League cellar as Johnny Schmitz tossed a five hitter at the Cincinnati Reds to down them 3-1. It was the Cubs third straight win.

Mangrum, Snead Victors In P.G.A. Tourney Play

RICHMOND, Va., May 27 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum and Sam Snead charmed their skimpy galleries today by killing off two opponents each and getting that much closer to the spectators' dream final in the United States P.G.A. championships on the 6,675-yard par-71 Hermitage course.

Mangrum opened the day with an easy 6 and 5 victory over Denny Shute, twice P.G.A. champion. His second opponent, Bob Hamilton, was a lot tougher but still not tough enough, and the Niles, Ill., professional won 3 and 2.

Early today, Snead had to work from a deficit to defeat young Jack Burke, Jr., 3 and 2. The afternoon's second match-play round was Snead's all the way and he won 3 and 1 from Henry Ransom.

Oak Bay Athletes Star In B.C. Inter-High Meet

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP)—Victoria's Oak Bay tracksters easily paced 20 squads in the semi-finals today of the second annual British Columbia high school track meet and will start in 11 finals tomorrow on the cinders at University of British Columbia Stadium.

Bob Hutchison parked the visiting Oak Bay unit as he sped over the timed lead to prove himself one of the best individual performers in the meet. He captured the broad jump the 220 and the 100. His main threat will come in the Darryl Rouleau of New Westminster's Trapp Tech.

TRAPP TECH THREAT

Trapp Tech is defending champion and its Darryl Rouleau scored two firsts in the 100 and the 220. Trapp Tech also had a powerful threat in the girls events in the ever-reliable Pat Jones who picked up three firsts, qualified in the discus and helped her relay team.

Tech has 10 finalists.

Bob Heerbrock of Creston scored a victory in the 880 and qualified in the 440. Ken Rouleau took the second heat of the 220 and loomed as another threat. The finals start at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

R. Johnson came third in the third heat of the boys 100-yard dash while in the girls' 80 Lynne Jackson of Oak Bay came second and Adrienne Lester third in another heat.

Bill Matson of Oak Bay came second in the 880 first heat and Murray Saunders third in the second heat, both qualifying.

Tom Pim of Victoria High finished fourth in the qualifying heat in the 440 and qualified. Adrienne Lester qualified for the girls' 100 with a third.

Hutchison of Oak Bay also qualified for the hop, step and jump. Warren Harrison of Victoria High got into the shot put finals with a fifth place.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

As you swing into contact with the ball when using wood, you should be playing the ball forward of centre, as pictured. The three-position club action shown is the result of the whip-lash effect produced by uncocking the wrists at the bottom of the downswing. Note that the player has returned at impact to what is almost the address position. His left arm and club shaft form almost a straight line to the ball, his hips and shoulders are parallel to the direction line and his eyes are fixed on the ball. This is the correct position at impact and from here on the player's left shoulder will rise and his left hip will sort of thrust upward, too, as the right side and right arm pour down into the ball and follow through. I think this is the type of picture that tends to straighten out the thinking of a golfer on what happens at the critical point of impact.

Turnesa Plays McCready In Final of O.C. Tourney

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, May 27 (AP)—Willie Turnesa, stout-hearted little battler from Elmsford, N.Y., fought through to victory in two blistering matches today to reach the final of the British amateur golf championship as Defending Champion Frank Stranahan bowed out.

Tomorrow the United States sensation will attempt to bring off the classic "double" of amateur golf when he engages Sam McCready, the Tennessee-and Irish-born sharpshooter who ousted Stranahan, in a 36-hole struggle.

FOURTH FINAL

The youngest of the famous golfing Turnesas is the first player to reach the American and British amateur finals four times since Lawson Little turned the trick in 1934-35. Willie won the British crown two years ago at Carnoustie.

Scrambling out of the tough most of the way, Turnesa was carried to the 19th hole before he disposed of Mick Power of County Cork in his quarter-final match this morning. Ernest Millward, a 37-year-old Briton, took him to the 18th green in the afternoon before losing one up.

His opponent tomorrow, McCready, proved himself a sturdy competitor as he knocked out Canadian Champion Stranahan, 4 and 3, in the quarter-final and went on to subdue Ken Thom, the 46 English champion on the 20th green in the afternoon. He was two under par when he closed Thom out with a birdie on the second extra hole.

Givan Pacing Past Masters With Neat 65

TACOMA, May 27 (AP)—Harry Givan, Seattle amateur, ran away and hid from the rest of the field by shooting a five-under-par 65 in today's opening round of the third annual Past Masters golf tournament at the Tacoma Country and Golf Club.

The sharpshooting Seattle champion, who as name is still on the tee reckoned with in leading golf circles despite the fact he has been retired for a couple of decades, put together six birdies and 11 pars while slipping over regulation figures on only one hole.

Runner-up at the halfway mark in the 36-hole medal play tournament was Roy Moe, veteran Spokane professional, who shot a 32 while Gordon Richards, Seattle professional and Ralph White, Seattle amateur, shared third place with 71s.

Perhaps the outstanding round of the day was a 76 turned in by Dave Black, 66-year-old retired professional from Vancouver, B.C. Tied for fifth place with the Vancouver veteran was Dr. O. F. Wilson of Portland, one-time United States Walker Cup player.

Frank Dolp of Seattle, defending champion, and Duncan Sutherland, Vancouver professional, shot 77s. Other scores included Phil Taylor, Victoria, 79, A. Vernon Macar, Victoria, 91, W. H. M. Haldane, Victoria, 96.

90th Running of King's Plate To Be Contested by Field of 16

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO, May 27 (CP)—King's Plate fever, a disease that strikes untold thousands of Canadian racing fans about this time each year, is on the rampage.

The "cure" will be effective tomorrow around 4:15 p.m. E.D.T. (3:15 P.D.T.) when 16 Canadian-bred three-year-old thoroughbreds kick up their heels over nine furlongs in the 90th edition of the King's Plate, oldest continuously-run race in North America. A pot of gold, the King's personal gift of 50 guineas (payable by bank draft) and glory go to the owner of the winner.

It's a good guess that money, reaching well into the six-figure brackets, will be spent through bookmakers and totalisator wickets before temperatures of the fans sink to normal. A crowd of 40,000-50,000 will be on hand at colorful Woodbine Park and thousands of others will follow it by radio over the CBC network.

The race, open to home-bred three-year-olds that haven't started as a three-year-old, the Plate trial excepted, drew an initial entry in December, 1947, of 113. This has been trimmed in each successive call-over until today when final acceptance showed 16 entries nominated to go to the post.

CHOOSY HORSE

According to Edgar Ansano the [illegible] Oxford [illegible] Like a [illegible] way from his stable.

"Except in the Derby Arcato [illegible] where he felt like a tired horse without his usual bounce. I shall think he can [illegible] and a half [illegible] appears to be on one of his [illegible] days. He has done a [illegible] in the last four months.

There are a great many other who [illegible] Oxford [illegible] a more [illegible] than enough [illegible]

"Oxford and Count [illegible] Kentucky [illegible] Derby [illegible] Better Luck Next Time, Pomeroy [illegible] and Pride; the Chatham horse [illegible] a two-year-[illegible]

But [illegible] be quite different with Olympia and Capot [illegible] each other off when Ponder came from behind to win. Ponder came from 20 lengths behind to win the Derby. He came from 29 lengths behind to cut away 17 lengths in the Chester Pleasantry. In the mile and a half Belmont Ponder will have [illegible] to be able to pick up ground through the stretch. If Olympia and Capot could be paced from the start both can run away from Ponder. If they can't they simply knock each other out as they did in Kentucky.

On the morning of April 2, 1909 [illegible] of High Point, North Carolina announced that a new addition had become attached to the family [illegible]. His name was Lucius B. Appling.

Twenty-one years later, the same parents joined the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern League and [illegible] 108 games. Then he joined the White Sox. Appling, 6 feet 10 inches, weight 180 pounds, has been with the White Sox ever since. He is now serving in 19th campaign for Jack Onslow's [illegible] squad. But [illegible] doubting the experts into the matter [illegible] Appling. When [illegible] check on the [illegible] vicissitudes that attack the modern athlete, Appling's career has been close to something phenomenal. In the 18 full seasons with a partial 19th stand, the White Sox [illegible] over 300 in 9 seasons. [illegible] were 1931, 1932 and 1942. He gave a year and part of another to the army in 1944 and 1945 but rounded out [illegible] up 300.

For the 18 years Appling averaged 312. He scored 414 [illegible] 18 years [illegible] at the plate [illegible] from Luke's very system.

DOUBLES HITTER

So far this season Appling has been hovering around the 300 point and has also driven in close to 20 runs. He has never been a home-run hitter, doubles being his main stock in trade.

The White Sox veteran has knocked out over 420 doubles in the 7,250 games he has known since reporting to the White Sox 19 years ago.

17 YEARS FOR WALKER

The only one we can recall who has matched Appling in point of service is Dixie Walker who left Villa Rica, Ga., to play at Albany, Ga., in 1928. That was 21 years ago. Dixie however has spent 15 years of big league play. But Dixie is also a true .300 man since his 17 year average is .307.

Appling must be an ardent lover of the game since it took something on the side to stick with the White Sox so long. The last good White Sox team, back in 1919 and 1920, wore sox that were slightly stained with darkness. This has been flops practically ever since—that is until Onslow and Frank Lane took over this season.

A MUST OAK BAY

Designed for comfortable living this home has an atmosphere that cannot be compared in Oak Bay surrounded by modern better class residences in an area that is distinctive by the quiet well-treed street that has a restful air seldom found in our beautiful city that has expanded to a congested appearance in many places.

This modern stucco home has three nice bedrooms, large bathroom with built in features, very modern kitchen and laundry room, large dining-room, a grand-size living room, ALL ON ONE FLOOR. Needless to say it embodies hardwood floors and hot-water heating. A roof full basement that has a rumpus room and den, also dandy workshop, separate plumbing. The drive-in garage is in the rear, the gardens are nicely hedged and we do not over-emphasize when we say you cannot replace this home at the price asked. An urgent sale is required so let us show it to you. No obligation. Thank you.

Chinese Recovers in Hospital After Rough and Tumble Fight

A 59-year-old Chinese is in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering from severe facial slashes after a rough and tumble rooming-house fight yesterday afternoon.

He is Chow Kam Choy, 519 Cormorant Street, whose condition late last night was reported as satisfactory.

When city police arrived at the Cormorant Street house they found the cramped room in a state of upheaval. Blood was splattered around the floor, and Chow was bleeding badly from the face. He was taken to hospital by Constable James Strong and Lorne Johnson.

An investigation conducted by Deputy Police Chief John Black stock showed that Chow had been arguing with a 74-year-old Chinese Chew Chow Jack, 544 Cormoran Street.

Police believe Chow was struck several times in the face with a [illegible] being held by police. Another weapon used by one of the contenders was the handle of a feather duster. Chow has a severe cut over one eye, a broken finger and numerous other head and face lacerations.

No charges have been laid, but police are questioning Chew and two eye witnesses. Police received their report from another tenant of the rooming house.

Other police officers attending were Constables Richard Ward, Brian Ferguson and Lyle Somers.

To Build Road As Mine Outlet

Arrangements for construction of a ten-mile section of the Tide Lake Road over Rocky Summit, linking Stewart and the Salmon Gold Mine, have been completed by the Federal and Provincial Governments and Morris Summit Gold Mines Ltd.

This was announced yesterday by Premier Byron Johnson.

Each of the three parties is contributing $70,000 to the project.

Construction of the road will begin this year, the Premier said, permitting building of a mill and mine operation next year.

The development will give employment to more than 100 men in the Stewart area.

Also benefiting by the road, according to the Premier, will be 15 other mining prospects.

Speakers Get Big Ovation In Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 27.—Hon. George S. Pearson and Hon. Gordon Wismer, speakers at a Coalition meeting here last night, received ovations from an enthusiastic audience that crowded the Plaza ballroom.

Mr. Pearson is in his sixth contest, has served 21 years and has been Cabinet Minister for 21 years, he said, which is a record. He was given an ovation when he said his old rule still held—he would make no promises to win an election.

He would give of his best and the great experience he had, for which he thanked Nanaimo.

LAUDS RECORD

The Coalition has a record hard to beat, he said, in reviewing progress in social legislation.

British Columbia is upholding the highest standard of living in the Dominion and its population is increasing at 50,000 a year, which keeps up production and reflects creditably on Coalition record, he said.

Mr. Wismer told of an aluminum company waiting to come into British Columbia. They would spend millions of dollars annually in payrolls that everyone would share in.

Capital will flee our boundaries if the C.C.F. is elected, he predicted. He said he ran in the last election to reopen the Borstal Home that gave a boy a decent chance.

Vancouver Islanders will save millions over the removal of the differential railway rate, he said.

Letter's Plea To Quell "Din" Wins Sympathy

Esquimalt councillors are a human lot and can fully appreciate the problems of a Dunsmuir Street resident.

A letter from the resident read at the Esquimalt Council meeting said the local milkman had changed his delivery schedule from 6 a.m. to 5 a.m., causing the writer a serious loss of rest.

Councillor A. C. Wurtele suggested that the lady change her milkman.

Councillor G. R. Guillemaud, who it seems has had the same problem himself, was a little more sympathetic. He pointed out to the council that Esquimalt should have an early morning milk delivery by-law the same as Victoria.

Meanwhile the serious traffic hazard arising at Canteen and Esquimalt Roads in the mornings and evenings, when the Dockyard and Yarrows are changing shifts, was brought to the attention of the council. It was decided to have slow signs erected and yellow pedestrian lines be painted on the road to try and relieve the situation.

It was also decided at the meeting that the Esquimalt Municipality would back the city in their efforts to obtain 50 per cent of the 3 per cent Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax.

Junior High To Accept Some Pupils

There are at present a limited number of vacancies at Central Junior High School for pupils who will enter Grade VII in September.

"Parents who wish children entering Grade VII to attend Central Junior High School should submit their request to the principal of the school at which the child is now attending," J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of Greater Victoria Schools, said. "Applications should be made as soon as possible if suitable arrangements for entry in September are to be completed, as vacancies are limited in number."

The Junior High School offers an easy transition between the elementary and senior high schools and also gives certain training courses not available in elementary schools. Such courses are of particular value to boys and girls planning commercial, technical or vocational careers.

COPS BRITISH TITLE

HARLECH, Wales, May 27 (Reuters).—For the first time in three years, the British women's golf championship title today returned home when 24-year-old Frances (Bunty) Stephens beat Mrs. Val Reddan of Ireland, 5 and 4 in the 36-hole final.

Voters Urged To Defeat Road By-Law

Ward Six Ratepayers' Association is urging Saanich ratepayers to defeat the $270,000 road by-law to be voted on today.

"Vote in the negative and prevent additional taxation and bonded indebtedness on your property," a statement urges.

Those bucking the road program say "this non-essential loan of more than a quarter of a million dollars carries a total interest bill of $53,-450, which is 17 per cent of the money borrowed."

WORDING NOT CLEAR

"The wording of this by-law is not at all clear, and provision is made to reconsider its terms after you have voted the money. If you vote yes, you do not know exactly what you are voting for except additional taxation and indebtedness. Be prudent and vote no," reads the statement.

Sydney Pickles, association president, said yesterday an economic recession is now here and ratepayers are being faced with a serious possibility of a depression when additional taxation can deprive persons of their homes and properties.

"Stop the present trend to further burden all ratepayers by rash borrowing of money. Let us adopt a sane pay-as-you-go policy and insist that our council follow it," concludes the association's statement.

B.C. Aluminum Project Realization of "Dream"

Twenty-five or more years ago a little-known engineer sat in a bear office of the Legislative Buildings here in Victoria. He spent hours gleaning over maps and charts of the Province . . . with his attention focused on a series of lakes, situated on the flank of British Columbia's coastal range. There was a big dream in the back of his mind, and that dream is now in the process of materializing—12 years after his death.

The late F. W. Newstud looked at that lake area as one of the country's—if not the world's—greatest source of hydro-power. He was right.

IDEA TAKES SHAPE

Meanwhile, on the other side of the nation, another idea was forming in the minds of a group of men who foresaw the possibility of a great industry for this Dominion. Their idea, and their dream, was summed up in the one word: Aluminum.

Those in Eastern Canada, putting ideas and inspiration into action, formed and developed what is now known as the Aluminum Company of Canada. Here in British Columbia, at the instigation of the then insignificant engineer, surveys were started in and about the lake district that had attracted so much of his attention.

At that time there was little thought that some day the two operations of east and west would become directly associated, to ultimately result in the establishment of a $300,000,000 aluminum industry in this province.

TELLS STORY TO CLUB

Jack Kendrick, recently appointed as resident engineer in British Columbia for the Aluminum Company of Canada, told this story, with its detail and interesting sidelights, to the Lions Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Last year top ranking officials of the great aluminum company came to this province, and with them were some of the most highly qualified engineers in the nation. They made careful surveys of the lake area in question, and a decision was made to establish a plant in British Columbia.

Mr. Kendrick said surveys are still under way, and will be for another two years. Then construction of the big plant will start. At least $1,000,000 is being spent to determine where the new aluminum city will be established. Its population will be about 30,000.

NO DECISION MADE

As yet, no decision has been made as to where the actual plant will be, but it will be in that area of the coast including lakes bearing the names of Tahtsa, Chilco, Eutsuk Whitesail, Ootsa and Nanika. In accordance with tentative plans, a number of the lakes will be linked, to provide sufficient water power.

The plan may involve the creation of an artificial lake covering about 400 square miles, the building of a dam similar in volume to the Grand Coulee, and a tunnel measuring 40 feet in diameter and 100 miles long.

The project will be the largest in the world ever established by private enterprise. The project, Mr. Kendrick concluded, reflected the company's sincere faith in the economic future of British Columbia.

Mock Attack by Planes To Be Made on Victoria

Victoria and surrounding districts will be "attacked" by "enemy" aircraft in the largest scale reserve operations since the war years early this Autumn, it is announced by Reserve Force Headquarters here.

The attacking force will consist of Vampire jets and other aircraft from the 442 (City of Vancouver) Fighter Squadron, R.C.A.F.

The defenders, also equipped by the Vancouver squadron, will be assisted by the 3.7-inch guns and fire control instruments of Victoria's 5th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment, R.C.A., and radar and plotting detachments of the 8th Anti-Aircraft Operations Unit, R.C.A.

Smaller scale exercises in preparation for the Autumn manoeuvres will be held throughout the Summer.

A preliminary radar tracking practice was held early this month and a tactical exercise with guns and fire-control instruments will be held by the 5th Regiment at Patricia Bay Sunday. Air co-operation will be provided by No. 12 Group, R.C.A.F.

Both the 5th Regiment and the 8th A.A. will attend training camp at the artillery school at Work Point from July 10 to July 16.

High School Graduates Given Word of Caution

Harold Campbell, assistant deputy minister of education, cautioned Esquimalt High School graduating students last night not to let parents, or anyone else, push them into jobs which do not suit them.

Parents and friends and the 29 graduates heard his warning at the school's graduation banquet and dance in Club Sirocco.

"All too frequently our parents are too ambitious for us," he said. "They want us to be something we don't really don't want to be — something they never were."

High school education is important in maintaining a democratic society, he said.

Material progress has not been matched by moral progress, he said.

"Refrigerators, radios, automobiles and new clothes do not bring permanent satisfaction," he warned. "There are other people in the world who have all the things money can buy, and they are thoroughly miserable."

GOOD LIFE FORMULA

He listed ingredients of a good life as good health, a happy home, a sense of perspective and a sense of social responsibility.

C. A. Kelly, principal, was toastmaster. Doreen Eaton, Inter-Schools Christian Fellowship president, said grace. Remainder of the program was:

Gets $10 Fine For Working Without Permit

Andrew St. Clair, 317 Beckley Street, was fined $10 or in default three days in jail in city police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of doing certain work without a permit from the city plumbing inspector.

The accused told the court he knew of many other cases where work was done without a permit, but he was the only one to be prosecuted.

"Plumbing is a matter of health regulations. It is not as trivial as you make out," stated Magistrate H. C. Hall.

The offence took place at 1016 Fort Street.

REMANDED

Joseph Richmond, 56C Victoria Avenue, charged with indecent assault, was remanded to this morning to set a day for his trial. He is represented by James J. Proudfoot. Bail was set at $1,000.

DRIVING CHARGE

John Perry, 2623 Fifth Street, was fined $35 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving to the common danger on Bay Street May 25.

Magistrate Hall told the accused his licence would be suspended, but the superintendent of motor vehicles will rule on length of the suspension.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, said Perry fell asleep at the wheel of his car and struck a pole.

Sailor Committed To Stand Trial

Nicholas Lazaruk, H.M.C.S. Naden, was committed for trial on a charge of rape in Oak Bay Police court yesterday.

He is charged with raping the 19-year-old wife of a sailor last week. The offence is alleged to have taken place near the Oak Bay War Memorial.

James J. Proudfoot is defending Lazaruk.

Virgil, the Latin poet, wrote his famed Aeneid to tell of the founders of Rome, who, he said, were survivors of the battle of Troy.

Girl Soprano Guest Artist Wins Praise

Appearing as guest artist with the Bach Choir, Miss Anne Bilous pleased an appreciative audience at the church auditorium last evening with her well-controlled, artistically-used soprano voice.

A visitor from Winnipeg, where she recently won honors in the musical festival, Miss Bilous sings with effortless ease, has excellent diction and a good range, with her lower notes warm and rich, and a bell-like clarity and resonance in her high register.

Together with Dorothy Mae Charles, Marion Mitchell and Roberto Wood, she sang excerpts from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." For her second group, later in the program, she sang a Brahms group, of which "Your Cheeks Are Soft and Lovely" was particularly beautiful.

CHOIR IMPROVED

The choir, which has greatly improved under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Wood, opened the program with the "Welcome Chorus" by Bach, conducted by Mr. Wood. This was sung with good control, and a feeling for the meaning of the words.

Sheila Bates, winner of the Music Teacher's Federation, Victoria branch, bursary this year, played Dohnanyi's "Rhapsodie in F Sharp Minor," and as extra, a sprightly little bit, "The White Donkey." She is a talented young artist of considerable promise.

Marion Gibbs, a very young student, and Vivian Trimble, the runners-up to Miss Bates for the bursary, were heard in pianoforte numbers. Miss Trimble has a delicate touch, and a charmingly simple approach to her instrument. Miss Gibbs' second number, "Claire de Lune," was the better of her two selections.

HAD SLIGHT "EDGE"

In introducing Miss Bates, Mrs. Wood described her as having a little "edge" on the other students whose performance she had adjudicated recently, and said that had she been able to award several bursaries, the other young pianists appearing last night would have gained them. Rev. F. W. Anderson thanked the artists and choir for the fine program they had presented.

Young Pianist Brilliant in Recital

Playing in Victoria for the last time before leaving for Vancouver to continue her studies, Miss Denise Mara gave great pleasure to an enthusiastic audience at the Victoria High School last evening.

Miss Mara is to be congratulated upon the way she uses her excellent technique to enhance, rather than smother, the pure beauty of the music. Pianistically, she is serene and appealing, more satisfying than any surface brilliancy could possibly be. Her approach was simplicity itself, and this, together with her inherent artistry, made the evening an outstanding one.

Opening with "Gavotte" by Gluck-Brahms, she showed well-controlled power, her left hand being fascinating to watch. The big tone was never forced, with a strength and vitality that is seldom heard from a young artist, especially a girl. This was even more notable in the Bach-Rummel "Jesus Christ the Son of God," and the main work of the program, the Beethoven Sonata in C major, Op. 2, No. 3, which was glorious. She plays with a maturity of emotional feeling which augurs well for her future.

SECOND SELECTIONS

For the second part of her program, she chose Debussy, Ravel and a Chopin group. Here she made the delicate fabric a joy to hear. She fairly drew the music from her instrument with a caressing touch. The Debussy "Reflets dans l'eau" had a flowing quality of tone and mood, and the Ravel "Jeux d'eau" sparkled like a waterfall.

The Chopin group was a special delight, as the poetic content was given full scope. There was a moving quality about these short numbers that will long remain in the memory of those who were privileged to hear them as Miss Mara played them last evening. In response to insistent applause she added two extra Chopin "studies" to her programmed group.

VERY LIKE FLOWER

The graceful young artist looked very like a flower herself as she received her tributes of applause and bouquets. Not the least of the pleasure of the evening was her charm of manner and her quiet dignity at the piano.

She is a more than usually gifted musician, and should go far in her professional career.

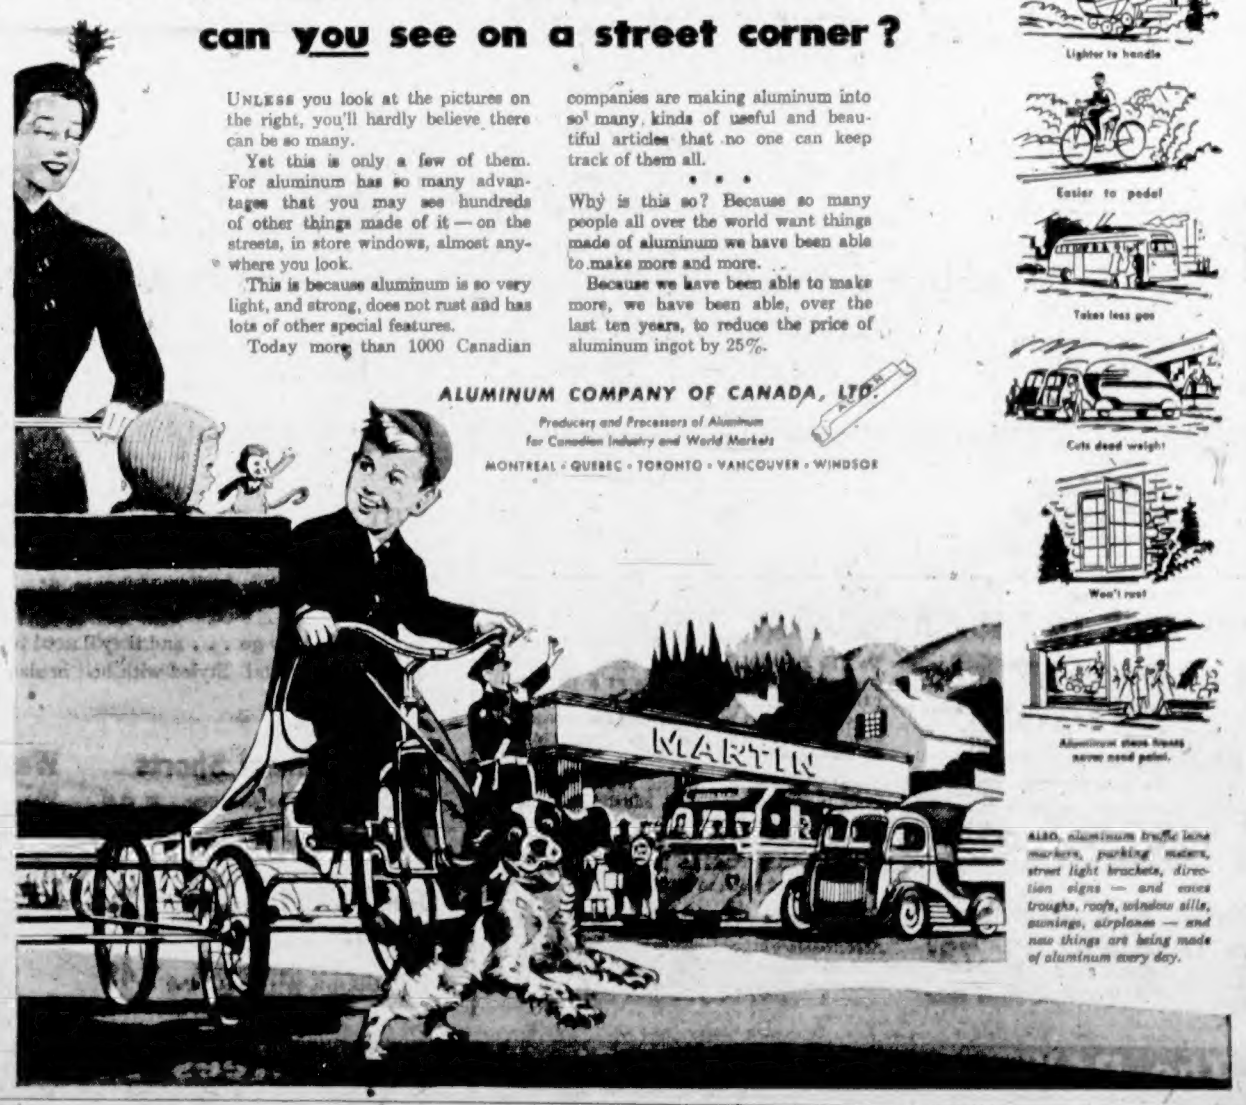
How many things made of aluminum can you see on a street corner?



UNLESS you look at the pictures on the right, you'll hardly believe there can be so many.

Yet this is only a few of them. For aluminum has so many advantages that you may see hundreds of other things made of it — on the streets, in store windows, almost anywhere you look.

This is because aluminum is so very light, and strong, does not rust and has lots of other special features.

Today more than 1000 Canadian companies are making aluminum into so many kinds of useful and beautiful articles that no one can keep track of them all.

• • •

Why is this so? Because so many people all over the world want things made of aluminum we have been able to make more and more.

Because we have been able to make more, we have been able, over the last ten years, to reduce the price of aluminum ingot by 25%.
